

Hybrid Fund Administration

Integrated solutions for converging asset classes

'Hybrid' Funds incorporate characteristics of both private equity and hedge funds and have rapidly gained popularity in recent years. These funds are of increasing appeal to managers that continue to look for opportunities to deliver returns to their investors, and to differentiate themselves in the growing alternatives space. Hybrid funds do, however, present unique challenges and proper management of these entities requires an integrated administration solution drawing from both private equity and hedge fund servicing expertise.

J.P. Morgan delivers innovative outsourced accounting and administration services to alternative investment managers around the globe. The key ingredient to our success in the hybrid space is our ability to draw on our best in class private equity investor servicing and hedge fund asset servicing to provide one integrated solution. Our clients benefit from our ability to support complex waterfall structures and allocations together with asset servicing typically associated with more liquid strategies, actively traded securities and complex OTC instruments. Clients can leverage our extensive expertise, powerful technology and proven processes. We have the ability to support investment structures in multiple jurisdictions and multiple currencies. Our team helps meet the evolving operational and reporting needs of our clients.
