About Eligibility

The JPMorgan Chase U.S. Benefits Program described in this brochure is generally available in whole or in part to most full-time and part-time U.S. dollar-paid employees who are:

- Employed by JPMorgan Chase & Co. or any of its subsidiaries to the extent that such subsidiary has adopted the JPMorgan Chase U.S. Benefits Program; and
- Regularly scheduled to work 20 or more hours per week.

You are considered a full-time U.S. benefits-eligible employee if you are regularly scheduled to work 40 hours per week.

You are considered a part-time benefits-eligible employee if you are regularly scheduled to work at least 20 but less than 40 hours per week.

Have You Worked...

... for JPMorgan Chase or any of its predecessor organizations in the past? If yes, then your prior service may count toward your eligibility and vesting for certain JPMorgan Chase benefits plans. For more specific information please see page 23.

Generally, your Health and Income Protection Plan benefits elections remain in effect throughout the calendar year. In the case of most benefits plans, you're not allowed to make changes to your elections until the next annual enrollment period—unless you experience a qualified change in status.

If you experience a qualified status change (such as marriage, divorce, the birth or adoption of a child), you must make any eligible Health and Income Protection Plan benefits changes within 31 days of the qualifying event. If you miss the 31-day deadline, coverage for certain benefits (i.e., medical, dental, vision, and the Health Care Spending Account) will be effective as of the date you contact the Benefits Call Center. Otherwise, you will not be able to make the change in coverage until an annual benefits enrollment period.

The JPMorgan Chase U.S. Benefits Program is available to most full-time and part-time U.S. dollar-paid salaried employees who are regularly scheduled to work 20 hours or more a week and who are employed by JPMorgan Chase & Co. or one of its subsidiaries to the extent that such subsidiary has adopted the JPMorgan Chase U.S. Benefits Program. This information does not include all of the details contained in the applicable insurance contracts, plan documents, and trust agreements. If there is any discrepancy between this information and the governing documents, the governing documents will control. JPMorgan Chase & Co. expressly reserves the right to amend, modify, reduce, change, or terminate its benefits and plans at any time. The JPMorgan Chase U.S. Benefits Program does not create a contract or guarantee of employment between JPMorgan Chase and any individual. JPMorgan Chase or you may terminate the employment relationship at any time.

The Health and Income Protection Plans

Maintaining good health and protecting your income in case you're unable to work are important priorities in your life. That's why JPMorgan Chase offers a variety of options under our Health and Income Protection Plans—such as the Medical, Dental, Vision, Spending Accounts, Long-Term Disability, Life and Accident Insurance, Long-Term Care Insurance, Group Personal Excess Liability, and Group Legal Services Plans—to provide you with the opportunity to select health care and insurance protection that best suits your needs and those of your eligible dependents.

Medical Plan

JPMorgan Chase offers five different types of medical options that provide a range of quality and flexible coverage. The number of options available to you is based on where you live. All options generally cover the same medically necessary services and supplies, including prescription drugs. Here's a brief overview of each Medical Plan option:

¹ Medical Plan coverage may vary for certain HMO and EPO options. For more information, please refer to the Health Plan Comparison Charts on the Benefits Web Center.

² Coverage for an out-of-network provider under the POS High and Low Options, the CDHO, and coverage under the Traditional Indemnity Option are subject to "Reasonable and Customary (R&C) Charges" – the prevailing charge for most providers in the same or similar geographic area for the same or similar service or supply.

³ Eligible preventive services are subject to age and frequency guidelines. The service must be submitted to the claims administrator as preventive medical care rather than as diagnostic service in order to qualify for preventive care coverage.

⁴ Eligible mammograms are covered at 100% and do not count toward the $200 limit.

POINT-OF-SERVICE (POS)* HIGH AND LOW OPTIONS

The POS High and Low Options give you the flexibility to use any licensed provider and receive benefits—you do not need to select a primary care physician (PCP). You have the opportunity to get higher, “in-network” benefits when you use preferred providers who belong to the POS network. Generally, your out-of-pocket costs will be lower if you use network providers because these providers have agreed to offer their services for lower, prenegotiated rates.

If you enroll in the POS High Option, you pay higher premiums but have lower deductibles, out-of-pocket maximums, and copayments for doctor’s office visits and other services. If you enroll in the POS Low Option, you pay lower premiums but your deductibles, out-of-pocket maximums, and copayments for doctor’s office visits and other services are higher. In-network preventive medical care is covered at 100% under both the POS High and Low Options. Please Note: The service must be submitted to the claims administrator as preventive medical care rather than as a diagnostic service in order to qualify for preventive care coverage. Eligible preventive services are subject to certain age and frequency guidelines.

The POS High and Low Options are administered by UnitedHealthcare except in the following geographic areas:

In This Geographic Area	2009 Administrator
California, Louisiana, Michigan, Western New York, West Virginia	Empire Blue Cross Blue Shield
Arizona, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Texas, Washington D.C.	Aetna
Indiana, Kentucky	Anthem Blue Cross Blue Shield

The Empire Blue Cross Blue Shield POS High or Low option may be referred to as a PPO.*

THE EXCLUSIVE PROVIDER ORGANIZATION (EPO)/HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATION (HMO) OPTION

EPOs work much like HMOs in that most in-network services are fully paid after a copayment, out-of-network services are generally not covered, and there are generally no deductibles or claim forms to file. There are some differences between EPOs and HMOs:

- Under an HMO, prescription drug coverage is provided through the HMO; under an EPO, prescription drug coverage is provided through the JPMorgan Chase Prescription Drug Plan, administered by Caremark. Please see page 7 for more information on the Prescription Drug Plan.
- EPOs are not subject to the same state-mandated benefits or dependent age exceptions to which HMOs are subject.

The EPO/HMO Option available to you depends on where you live. When you participate in an EPO/HMO, you receive all your care from the EPO/HMO’s network of providers, hospitals, and laboratories. EPO/HMOs do not pay for treatment by non-EPO/HMO providers, except in an emergency. In addition:

- There are no deductibles or claim forms to file. Generally, all eligible expenses are covered at 100% after you make a copayment.
- If you receive care outside the network, you’re responsible for all charges (except in an emergency).

Generally, your care within a EPO/HMO network is coordinated through a primary care physician (PCP). If your plan requires one, you must go through your PCP when you need medical care or a referral to a specialist. Check with your option administrator to determine if a PCP is required. Specific information on the EPO/HMOs available to you will be communicated during your designated enrollment period.

CONSUMER DRIVEN HEALTH OPTION PLUS A TAX-DEFERRED HEALTH SAVINGS ACCOUNT

The Consumer Driven Health Option, administered by Aetna, is like the POS Option in that it offers medical and prescription drug coverage with both in-network and out-of-network benefits. However, unlike the POS option, you'll need to satisfy an annual deductible for both in-network and out-of-network expenses before the option begins to pay medical or prescription drug benefits ($1,200 employee only/ $2,400 if you cover any family members). Prescription drug coverage is provided through Aetna. It is important to note that preventive medical care will be covered at 100% even if the annual deductible isn't satisfied. Eligible preventive services are subject to age and frequency guidelines.

This option only offers employee and family levels for annual deductibles and annual out-of-pocket maximums. This means that, if you cover any dependents, you will have to meet the entire family deductible before the plan begins sharing a portion of your eligible expenses through coinsurance.

The Health Savings Account is a feature of the Consumer Driven Health Option that can help you save and pay for your out-of-pocket medical expenses—now or in the future. Contributions are made on a before-tax basis through payroll deductions or direct contributions. The maximum contribution for 2009 is $3,000 for employee-only coverage and $5,950 if you cover any dependents. These amounts are indexed on an annual basis. Covered participants between the ages of 55 and 65 (or who will reach age 55 on or before December 31, 2009) are also eligible to make additional “catch-up” contributions of up to $1,000 each for 2009. (However, catch-up contributions for a spouse cannot be made through payroll deductions.) The balance in your account will roll over from year to year. Any interest earned is based on investment experience. The Health Savings Account is also portable, meaning you can keep your account even if you leave JPMorgan Chase for any reason. Distributions for qualified medical expenses are tax free. Please Note: If you contribute to the Health Savings Account and also elect to participate in the Health Care Spending Account, you can only be reimbursed for dental and vision expenses from your Health Care Spending Account for 2009.

Certain Individuals are Not Eligible for the Health Savings Account

Federal regulations limit eligibility for the Health Savings Account. To be eligible for the Health Savings Account, active employees must not be:

- Covered by another group health plan (e.g., a spouse's employer coverage);
- Enrolled in Medicare;
- Claimed as a dependent on another person's federal income tax return; or
- Age 65 or older.

TRADITIONAL INDEMNITY OPTION

The Traditional Indemnity Option, administered by UnitedHealthcare, gives you the flexibility to visit any health care provider or hospital facility and receive benefits for eligible expenses. Generally, the total cost of care under this option is higher than under the other options, so the amount you pay for coverage will be higher. You pay an annual deductible, and then you and the company share the reasonable and customary costs for covered expenses, subject to plan maximums. Please Note: This option also has a preferred provider organization (PPO) feature—meaning if you use a UnitedHealthcare PPO network doctor or hospital facility, you may lower your out-of-pocket costs based on negotiated rates.

Providers Leaving Networks

The list of providers for any given health care network can change during the course of the plan year, so you should check with your doctor to verify that he or she plans to continue participation in the Medical Plan option you choose. If your health care provider does leave your network, it does not qualify, under federal law, as an event that allows you to change coverage during the year.

High Performance Networks

Many of our Medical Plan options designate a select number of their participating providers as “high performance.” These are physicians who have proven expertise in providing high quality, cost-effective care. Utilizing these providers can result in lower costs, better outcomes, or both. Visit the Medical Plan option administrator's web site for more information.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG COVERAGE

If you elect coverage under the POS High or Low Option, the EPO Option, or the Traditional Indemnity Option, your prescription drug coverage is provided through the JPMorgan Chase Prescription Drug Plan, administered by Caremark. You will receive two separate ID cards (one for medical services and one for your JPMorgan Chase Prescription Drug coverage offered through Caremark). This coverage gives you the option of having prescriptions filled at a retail pharmacy or through a convenient mail order program. (Please Note: If you elect Medical Plan coverage under either the HMO or Consumer Driven Health Option, your prescription drug coverage is provided through your option administrator, and you will receive only one ID Card for medical services and prescription drug benefits.)

WHICH MEDICAL PLAN OPTION IS RIGHT FOR ME?

Following are some additional questions you may want to ask as you decide which Medical Plan option is best for you and your family:

Ask Yourself...	You May Want to Consider...
Do I want medical coverage through JPMorgan Chase, or do I have adequate coverage elsewhere?	Comparing JPMorgan Chase Medical Plan options to your spouse's/domestic partner's coverage
Do I want an option with higher out-of-pocket costs (such as for deductibles or copayments) to reduce my per-pay-period contributions?	The POS Low Option or the CDHO
Would I rather have higher per-pay-period contributions and spend less out of pocket during the year?	The POS High Option or the EPO/HMO Option
Do I want the flexibility to receive services either in-or out-of-network?	The POS High and Low Option or the CDHO
Are my current health care providers associated with the option that I'm considering?	Checking with your provider. The list of providers for any given health care network can change during the course of the plan year, so check with your provider to make sure that he or she plans to continue participating in your Medical Plan option for 2009
Do I want to contribute before-tax money to a Health Care Spending Account that must be used within a certain time period or be forfeited?	The Health Care Spending Account
Do I want the opportunity to contribute before-tax money to a Health Savings Account that rolls over from year to year, can accrue interest, and can be used for current and future health care expenses?	Enrolling in the CDHO and contributing to a Health Savings Account

ELIGIBLE DEPENDENTS

In addition to employee coverage, your dependents are also generally eligible for coverage under the JPMorgan Chase Medical Plan. Eligible dependents generally include:

- Your spouse or domestic partner (as defined below).*
- Your unmarried, dependent children who are fully dependent on you for financial support, up to the end of the month in which they reach:
 - Age 19; or
 - Age 21 if they are not eligible for benefits through their own employer; or
 - Age 23 if they are a full-time student (as defined on page 9). (This includes dependent children of a domestic partner—whether or not they are legally adopted by you, as long as your domestic partner is also enrolled.)
 - You may continue coverage for an unmarried child who is not capable of supporting him or herself due to a mental or physical disability, if that disability began before the age limits described above and if he or she is fully dependent on you for financial support.

Please Note: In a limited number of areas, the dependent eligibility guidelines described here may be superseded by state mandates that govern minimum dependent eligibility requirements within a particular state under an HMO Option. For a list of these states, please see the Dependent Eligibility Requirements on HR & Personal > Pay & Benefits > Library.

*For purposes of administration of JPMorgan Chase's benefit plans, the term "spouse" refers to any person to whom you are legally married as recognized by U.S. federal law. Even if you are legally married under state law (i.e., in Massachusetts and California), or non-U.S. law (i.e., Canada, Spain, etc.) to a person of the same sex, your same sex spouse is considered to be your "domestic partner" for purposes of the administration of the JPMorgan Chase benefits plans, including the federal tax consequences for covering your domestic partner under your benefits (i.e., imputed income) and the benefits that may not be available to that person (i.e., the Health Care Spending Account). For more information regarding domestic partner coverage and the various federal and state tax consequences, please refer to the 2009 Domestic Partner Coverage Guide on HR & Personal > Pay & Benefits > Library.

The Definition of a Full-Time Student

Generally, a full-time student is defined as a dependent enrolled in an educational institution at the time services are received. The definition JPMorgan Chase uses for “full-time” is the same definition used by the educational institution. (Typically, 12 credit hours per semester is considered full time.) During the summer term when many dependents aren’t enrolled, coverage is based on enrollment during the previous term unless the student has completed studies (i.e. graduated). An educational institution is defined as a school maintaining a regular faculty, an established curriculum, and an organized student body in attendance. It includes high schools, colleges, technical schools and similar institutions, but doesn’t include on-the-job training. Dependents who are taking classes part time in their last semester to complete their degree will continue to meet the definition of a full-time student.

The JPMorgan Chase Medical Plan offers four coverage categories to help match your coverage needs:

- Employee Only
- Employee Plus One Adult (spouse or domestic partner)
- Employee Plus Child(ren)
- Employee Plus Adult (spouse or domestic partner) Plus Child(ren)

You are responsible for understanding the dependent eligibility rules and abiding by them. When you first enroll and each year during your designated enrollment period, or within 31 days following a qualified status change, it is important that you review both the dependent eligibility rules and the status of your covered dependents to ensure that you cover only eligible dependents.

JPMorgan Chase conducts dependent eligibility audits on an annual basis. Such audits help ensure that dependents who have been certified for coverage during the enrollment process continue to meet plan rules for eligibility. As a result, you may be asked to provide documentation of eligibility for your covered dependents at any time (e.g. birth certificate, marriage certificate, etc.). Failure to either respond to a request for documentation or provide adequate proof of eligibility may result in termination of dependent coverage, repayment of the cost of that coverage, and/or disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment. For a listing of acceptable documentation, please see the Dependent Eligibility Requirements on HR & Personal > Pay & Benefits > Library

DOMESTIC PARTNERS

You and your domestic partner must:

- Be age 18 or older;
 - Have lived together for at least six months and have a serious, committed relationship;
 - Be financially interdependent;
 - Not be related to each other in a way that would prohibit legal marriage; and
 - Not be legally married to, or the domestic partner of, anyone else;
- OR
- Have registered as domestic partners pursuant to a domestic partnership ordinance or law of a state or local government, or under the laws of a foreign jurisdiction.

Important Note: When enrolling a domestic partner for coverage under certain HMOs, please be sure that the option you select allows coverage for a domestic partner. Kaiser Permanente HMO Colorado only permits same-sex, not opposite sex, domestic partner coverage.

Also, the Health Savings Account component of the Consumer Driven Health Option and/or the Health Care Spending Account does not apply to domestic partners unless you can claim him or her as a dependent on your federal tax return.

You may wish to contact a personal financial planner and/or tax advisor regarding the tax treatment of coverages related to your domestic partner and/or your domestic partner’s children. For additional information on covering domestic partners, please review the 2009 Domestic Partner Coverage Guide on HR & Personal > Pay & Benefits > Library, contact each plan option directly, or contact the Benefits Call Center and speak with a Service Representative.

COST FOR COVERAGE

You and JPMorgan Chase share the cost of coverage under the Medical Plan. Your contributions are deducted from your pay on a before-tax basis—before federal (and, in most cases, state and local) income taxes are withheld. The amount you pay depends on the level of your “total annual cash compensation” (excluding overtime), the medical option you choose, where you live, the number and type of eligible dependents you cover, and your and/or your covered dependents’ smoker status. In general, the higher your “total annual cash compensation,” the higher the cost of health care in the geographic area where you live, and the more dependents you cover under the Medical Plan, the higher your cost for coverage will be.

The following chart shows the “total annual cash compensation” levels currently used to determine employee before-tax contributions under the Medical Plan. (Specific contribution rates for each of your available Medical Plan options will be communicated during your designated enrollment period.)

Total annual cash compensation is your rate of base salary plus applicable job differential pay (e.g., shift pay) as of each August 1, plus any cash earnings from any incentive plans (e.g., annual bonus, commission, draws, overrides, and special recognition payments or incentives), that are paid to or deferred by you for the previous 12-month period ending each July 31. Overtime is not included. For purposes of determining your eligibility to receive company matching contributions under the 401(k) Savings Plan, the Medical Plan contribution pay tier level that applies to you, and eligibility to participate in the Employee Stock Purchase Plan, your total annual cash compensation is recalculated as of each August 1 to take effect the following January 1 and will remain unchanged throughout the year. For most employees hired on or after August 1, total annual cash compensation will be equal to base salary plus job differentials.

Total Annual Cash Compensation Levels Used to Determine Medical Plan Contributions

Level	Total Cash Compensation (excluding overtime)	Employee Pays
1	Up to $39,999.99	Least
2	$40,000 – $79,999.99
3	$80,000 – $149,999.99
4	$150,000 – $249,999.99
5	$250,000 – $349,999.99
6	$350,000 and above

Smoker and Non-Smoker Rates for Certain Benefits Coverage

Eligible employees and their covered dependents who don't smoke pay less for coverage under the following Health and Income Protection Plans than those who smoke:

- Medical Plan (employee, adult, and child coverage);
- Long-Term Disability Plan (employee coverage); and
- Supplemental Term Life Insurance Plan (employee and adult coverage).

Under the JPMorgan Chase U.S. Benefits Program, a “smoker” is any person who has smoked any type of tobacco products (i.e., cigarettes, cigars, or a pipe) regardless of the frequency or location (this includes daily, occasionally, socially, at home only, etc.) in the 12 months preceding any January 1. This definition does not pertain to users of tobacco products that are not smoked, such as chewing tobacco or snuff.

When you enroll as a newly eligible employee or during a subsequent annual enrollment period, you will declare a non-smoker/smoker status for yourself and each applicable dependent that you elect to enroll. The status you report will remain in effect for the calendar year. After you (and/or your covered dependents) have been smoke-free for 12 months (as of January 1 each year) or completed a pre-approved smoking cessation course and certified attendance by the applicable deadline (as part of the annual enrollment process), you'll be eligible for lower non-smoker rates beginning January 1 of the following year.

If you are hired on or after October 1, for the current plan year and the following plan year you will be assigned non-smoker rates for your and your dependents' coverage for certain benefits even if you declare yourself a smoker, because you may not have had an opportunity to complete a smoking cessation program in order to qualify for the lower non-smoker rates. You'll receive more information regarding the opportunity to update your smoker status during the annual benefits enrollment period. More information on smoking cessation programs and requirements is available on HR & Personal > Wellness.

Dental Plan

JPMorgan Chase offers four different dental options based on where you live. All options provide coverage for preventive care, basic and major restorative care, as well as orthodontia services for dependent children (up to age 19). Here's a brief overview of each Dental Plan option:

DENTAL OPTIONS AT A GLANCE

All in-network percentages above apply to dentists' negotiated fees. All other percentages generally apply to reasonable and customary charges. Frequency limits may apply to certain services.

*The CIGNA DHMO Option is based on a copayment structure per procedure. This coinsurance percentage reflects an approximation of copayments; the actual copayment will vary. More information will be available to you at the time of your benefits enrollment period.

Combined in- and out-of-network.

PREFERRED DENTIST PROGRAM (PDP) OPTION

The Preferred Dentist Program (PDP) Option, administered by MetLife, offers you the flexibility to choose between in-network and out-of-network dental care. Under this option, networks of participating dental providers offer their services for lower, prenegotiated rates. Here's how it works:

- When you need care, you can choose to visit a network provider or go out of network.
- In general, when you obtain care from an in-network dentist, your out-of-pocket costs will be lower; when you receive out-of-network care, your out-of-pocket costs will be higher.
- Once you pay a deductible, you and the company share the reasonable and customary costs for covered expenses, subject to plan maximums. No deductibles apply to in-network or out-of-network preventive services.

DENTAL MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATION (DMO)/DENTAL HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATION (DHMO) OPTION

When you enroll in the Dental Maintenance Organization (DMO)/Dental Health Maintenance Organization (DHMO) Option, administered by Aetna and CIGNA, respectively:

- You receive care solely from dentists who are associated with the DMO/DHMO network.
- All of your care within the network is coordinated through a primary dentist. You must go through your primary dentist to receive benefits from the plan and for specialist referrals.
- In most cases, there are no deductibles.

TRADITIONAL INDEMNITY OPTION

The Traditional Indemnity Option, administered by MetLife, allows you to visit any dentist and receive care. This option also contains a preferred dentist feature, reducing your overall costs when you use a network dentist because you will be charged lower, negotiated fees. Generally, the total cost of care under this option is higher than under the other options, so the amount you pay for coverage will be higher. If you enroll in the Dental Plan's Traditional Indemnity Option, you pay a deductible and then you and the company share the reasonable and customary costs for covered expenses, subject to plan maximums.

ELIGIBLE DEPENDENTS

You can cover the same eligible dependents under the Dental Plan as under the JPMorgan Chase Medical Plan (please see page 8).

COST FOR COVERAGE

You and JPMorgan Chase share the cost of coverage under the Dental Plan. Your contributions are deducted from your pay on a before-tax basis. The amount you pay depends on the option you choose and the number and type of eligible dependents you cover.

Important Details About Participation in the Dental Plan

- Identification (ID) Cards: If you enroll in the DMO/DHMO Option, you will receive a card from your provider. If you enroll in the PDP Option or the Traditional Indemnity Option, you will not receive a card, but can verify that you are a participant in these options by identifying the name of your option and the administrator, MetLife.
- Providers Leaving Networks: When considering your options under the Dental Plan, please remember that if your dentist leaves a network, it does not qualify as an event that allows you to change coverage during the year. Please check with your provider to ensure that he or she plans to continue participation in the option of your choice.

Vision Plan

The JPMorgan Chase Vision Plan, administered by EyeMed, helps you pay for covered vision expenses like eye examinations, lenses (including contact lenses), and eyeglass frames. When you seek care from a vision care professional within the plan's network, you will generally have a small copayment. If you choose to seek care outside the network, you will be reimbursed up to a specified dollar limit. EyeMed offers vision care coverage through 45,000 vision care providers nationwide at 21,000 locations, including retail chains such as LensCrafters®, Pearle Vision®, Target Optical®, JCPenney Optical®, and Sears Optical®.

Please Note: You cannot be reimbursed for both contact lenses and eyeglass lenses within the same plan year.

Spending Accounts

Spending accounts allow you to set aside before-tax money to pay for eligible health care, dependent care, and transportation expenses. JPMorgan Chase offers three spending accounts—the Health Care Spending Account, the Child/Elder Care Spending Account, and the Transportation Spending Accounts (Mass Transit/Parking).

HEALTH CARE SPENDING ACCOUNT

You can generally contribute up to $8,000 a year on a before-tax basis to pay for eligible out-of-pocket health care expenses.

You may use your Health Care Spending Account for eligible expenses such as:

- Medical, prescription drug, and dental deductibles and coinsurance;
- Costs for non-covered prescription drugs such as non-sedating antihistamines;
- Eyeglasses and contact lenses (for amounts not covered under any Vision Plan you may be enrolled in); and
- Routine office visit copayments, coinsurance amounts, orthodontia, and other eligible expenses that may not be covered by any medical or dental plan.

Certain expenses, such as those for cosmetic surgery or health care premiums, are not reimbursable under the Health Care Spending Account.

Please Note: If you elect to participate in both the Health Care Spending Account and the Health Savings Account feature of the Consumer Driven Health Option under the Medical Plan, your Health Care Spending Account will be limited to dental and vision expenses only.

Health Care Spending Account Reimbursement Choices

If you enroll in the Health Care Spending Account and participate in the POS High or Low Options or the Traditional Indemnity Option under the Medical Plan, or the Preferred Dentist Program (PDP) or Traditional Indemnity Option under the Dental Plan, you have a choice in the way you will be reimbursed from your spending account for medical, dental, or prescription drug out-of-pocket expenses. You can be reimbursed either through a Health Care Spending Account card or through the automatic claim rollover feature. If you participate in the Health Care Spending Account with any Medical or Dental Plan option other than those listed above, you only have the Health Care Spending Account card option available to you. You cannot use the Health Care Spending Account card option with the automatic claim rollover feature, or vice versa. Please Note: Your election can only be changed during your annual enrollment period. If you do not indicate a preference, you will be assigned the Health Care Spending Account card reimbursement option.

- Health Care Spending Account Card: The Health Care Spending Account card works like a debit card in that it lets you electronically access your account to pay for eligible health care expenses that you incur at locations where the card is accepted. The card can be used at the point of sale (for example, when you're filling a prescription). You will always have the option to submit paper claims for reimbursement if you do not wish to use the Health Care spending Account card, or if your provider does not accept the card. You will receive one card per family, but may request additional cards from the plan administrator, ADP.

Please Note: The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requires proof of purchases made with a spending account card; therefore, it is recommended that you keep your receipts for three years. Card transactions will be automatically substantiated when the card is used at businesses that primarily or exclusively provide eligible health care services and products, or at retail pharmacies, drug stores, and merchants who sell over-the-counter health care products and comply with IRS approval system requirements. You will not be required to substantiate your Health Care Spending Account card purchase when you use it for prescriptions through the JPMorgan Chase Prescription Drug plan (administered by Caremark) if you are enrolled in the following Medical Plan options: POS High and Low, EPO, or Traditional Indemnity. In addition, if your Medical or Dental Plan option has fixed copayments, you may not be required to substantiate these expenses.

- Automatic Claim Rollover Feature: With the automatic claim rollover feature, most eligible expenses you incur will automatically be submitted to your Health Care Spending Account for reimbursement after payment from your Medical/Dental Plan (under the Medical Plan's POS High or Low Options and Traditional Indemnity Option, and the Dental Plan's PDP and Traditional Indemnity Options). You won't have to submit claim forms for these expenses. You will have to submit paper claims for plans that do not participate in the automatic claim rollover feature, such as vision care expenses, eligible health care expenses under an EPO/HMO or spouse's plan, or over-the-counter health care expenses. For example, when you go to the doctor, once your claim is processed by the medical claims administrator, the remaining amount (i.e., office visit copayment) will be sent to your Health Care Spending Account administrator, ADP, and eligible expenses will automatically be reimbursed to you.

Important Details About Participation in the Health Care Spending Accounts

- Don't Lose Out: If you elect to participate in the JPMorgan Chase Health Care Spending Account, any balance remaining in your account at the end of the plan year (December 31) may be used to reimburse yourself for eligible expenses incurred during the first two and a half months of the following year (until March 15) as long as you were still enrolled at the end of the plan year. After the "grace period" (January 1 through March 15 of the following year), you will lose any remaining balance in your account. You have until April 30 to submit eligible claims for reimbursement.
- Eligible Tax Dependents: You can pay expenses from your Health Care Spending Account for eligible tax dependents only, including your spouse, a tax-qualified domestic partner, parents, and your dependent children, including the children of your domestic partner if they are your tax dependents.
- Coordinating With Your Spouse: If your spouse has a Health Care Spending Account at JPMorgan Chase or at another employer, by law you cannot claim reimbursement for any expense your spouse has claimed.

CHILD/ELDER CARE SPENDING ACCOUNT

You can generally contribute up to $5,000 a year on a before-tax basis to pay for eligible out-of-pocket expenses to provide care during working hours for eligible dependents. Eligible expenses are those that provide care so that you and your spouse (if you are married) can work outside the home, or so your spouse can attend school full time. You must provide the Social Security number or tax identification number of the care provider when filing for reimbursements. You may use your Child/Elder Care Spending Account for eligible expenses including:

- Child care expenses for dependent children under age 13, and
- Adult care expenses for your dependent spouse or parents who are your tax dependents.

The JPMorgan Chase Child/Elder Care Spending Account covers eligible expenses only up to the balance credited to your account through payroll deductions at the time you request reimbursement. As your contributions are deducted from your pay throughout the year, you'll automatically be reimbursed for any outstanding expenses you've submitted, up to the year-to-date amount already contributed (minus any previous reimbursements). Your account will only cover expenses for services that have actually been incurred, not for future expected services.

Please Note: Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rules impose limits on contributions to the Child/Elder Care Spending Account in certain situations that involve highly compensated employees. These rules help ensure that the plan doesn't unfairly favor highly compensated employees. As a result, it may be necessary to significantly reduce contributions for some participants under these rules. You'll be notified if you're affected. For 2008, the contribution limit was $2,800. You will be notified if you are affected by the limits for 2009.

Important Details About Participation in the Health Care and Child/Elder Care Spending Accounts

- Don't Lose Out: If you elect to participate in the JPMorgan Chase Child/Elder Care Spending Account, you will lose any balance remaining in your account at the end of the plan year (December 31). You have until April 30 to submit eligible claims for reimbursement.
- Eligible Tax Dependents: You can pay expenses from your Child/Elder Care Spending Account for eligible tax dependents only, including your spouse, a tax-qualified domestic partner, and your dependent children, including the children of your domestic partner if they are your tax dependents.
- Coordinating With Your Spouse: If your spouse's employer offers a similar Child/Elder Care Spending Account, the most you and your spouse can be reimbursed during a tax year is $5,000 on a combined basis. If you are married, but file separate income tax returns, your maximum contribution amount is $2,500 a year.
- Federal Income Tax Credit: The Internal Revenue Code prevents you from taking the federal dependent care tax credit on your personal income tax form for expenses reimbursed through your Child/Elder Care Spending Account. You may wish to consult with your personal financial advisor to determine which is better given your personal financial situation.

TRANSPORTATION SPENDING ACCOUNTS

Under the JPMorgan Chase Transportation Spending Accounts, you pay for eligible commuter and/or parking expenses through before-tax payroll deductions up to the legal limits. You may contribute before-tax dollars to two different accounts—the Transit Account and/or the Parking Account. Currently for 2009, you can set aside on a before-tax basis up to $230 per month for mass transit and an equal amount for eligible parking expenses if you drive directly to work or to a location from which you commute to work (i.e., a park and ride). After-tax contributions are applicable to commuting and/or parking expenses that exceed before-tax monthly limits.

Important Details About Participation in the Transportation Spending Accounts

- How Transit Expenses are Paid: If you participate in the Transit Account, you simply order your commuter passes, tickets, or vouchers through WageWorks, Inc., the plan administrator. You will be asked to specify whether your elections should carry over month to month, or if you'd prefer to initiate a new election each month. Your commuter passes, tickets, or vouchers are then sent to your home address by the first of the month.

If your commuter pattern varies, the Transit Account also offers the convenience of a Commuter Card for your transit expenses. This card can be used to purchase a pass and is available to participants in a location where the associated transit agency (i.e., MetroCard, NJTransit Rail, etc.) accepts a debit card and/or credit card.

- How Parking Expenses are Paid: If you participate in the Parking Account, you must indicate how much you pay for parking and that amount will be paid to the parking lot directly for you. You can change or cancel your participation on a monthly basis at any time during the year. If your monthly parking expenses are unpredictable, you can pay for them each month, and then get reimbursed by submitting a claim.
- When You Can Enroll: You may enroll for participation in the Transportation Spending Accounts on a monthly basis at any time during the year. You must make your elections, changes, or cancellations by the first day of the month prior to the month in which expenses will be incurred. For example, if you make your enrollment elections between June 2 and July 1, your payroll deductions will begin in July for the expenses you will incur in August. For more information about the enrollment timing and payroll deductions, please refer to Your Guide to Benefits at JPMorgan Chase.
- Unused Before-Tax Dollars: The Transportation Spending Accounts are subject to different rules under the Internal Revenue Code than the Health Care Spending Account and the Child/Elder Care Spending Account. So, you may enroll in one or both of the Transportation Spending Accounts at any time, and change or stop your contributions on a monthly basis. If your account has a credit, it will be used to offset future payroll deductions.

Long-Term Disability (LTD) Plan

The LTD Plan can provide you with a monthly benefit equal to a percentage of your “benefits pay” up to a $700,000 maximum if an approved disability lasts beyond the period of time covered under the JPMorgan Chase Disability Leave Policy (generally 26 weeks). Benefits can continue until you recover, retire, reach the maximum time period for benefits, or die. Your benefits under the LTD Plan may be reduced by disability income benefits you receive from other sources (e.g., Social Security Disability Income). Participation is voluntary—you must enroll and pay for any coverage.

You can elect to purchase LTD protection that provides:

- 50% of “benefits pay,”
- 60% of “benefits pay,” or
- 60% of “benefits pay” plus two-year average annual discretionary cash pay (including annual bonus) paid or deferred (if eligible)

You will pay for LTD coverage on a before-tax basis and, as a result, you generally will be required to pay applicable income taxes on any benefits you may eventually receive.

The Additional Advantages of Electing LTD Coverage

If you qualify to receive benefits under the JPMorgan Chase Long-Term Disability (LTD) Plan, you will also be eligible to continue to receive company-sponsored medical and dental coverage (if enrolled), basic life insurance, and pay credits under the Retirement Plan. If you are disabled and do not have LTD coverage, your employment may be terminated after any eligible short-term disability leave as defined under the JPMorgan Chase Disability Leave Policy.

Important Details About Participation in Long-Term Disability (LTD) Insurance

- Evidence of Insurability (EOI): If you enroll for coverage as a newly hired employee, no evidence of insurability is required. If you don't enroll as a new hire or choose to increase coverage, all new coverage will be subject to EOI requirements.
- Actively-at-Work: You must be actively-at-work on the date your new coverage takes effect.
- Non-Smoker and Smoker Rates for Coverage: Your status as a non-smoker or smoker will affect your contributions under the LTD Plan. For more information on non-smoker and smoker premiums, please see page 10.
- Pre-existing Condition Exclusion: Long-term disability benefits will not be paid if:
 - During the first 12 consecutive months of your coverage you become disabled; and
 - You received treatment for that disabling condition during the six months before your most recent coverage effective date.A similar rule applies if you are increasing coverage, except that LTD benefits may be paid at the original (lower) coverage level you had before making your election increase.

Life and Accident Insurance Plans

JPMorgan Chase offers different types of life and accident insurance so you can choose the most appropriate coverage and survivor protection for your personal situation. The company automatically provides you with basic life insurance that pays benefits to your designated beneficiary(ies) if you die, and business travel accident insurance if you die or are injured while traveling on business for the company.

COMPANY-PAID LIFE AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE PLANS

JPMorgan Chase automatically provides the following protection at no cost to you:

- Basic Life Insurance: The company provides basic life insurance equal to one times your “benefits pay” (rounded up to the next $1,000) up to a maximum of $1 million (reduced benefits apply to employees age 65 and older). In the event of your death as an active employee, benefits are paid to your designated beneficiary.
- Business Travel Accident Insurance: The company provides business travel accident insurance equal to six times your annual base salary (minimum of $50,000 and maximum of $3 million). This coverage offers financial protection in the event of your accidental death or certain accidental injuries sustained while traveling on business for JPMorgan Chase. In the event of your death as an active employee, benefits are paid to your designated beneficiary.
- SurvivorSupport® Financial Counseling: If you die while actively employed or receiving LTD benefits, the company provides your surviving spouse or key adult survivor with financial planning services at no cost. Services are provided for a period of up to six months after your death.

VOLUNTARY LIFE AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE PLANS

In addition to the company-provided insurance described on page 17, you can elect to purchase supplemental term life and accident insurance for yourself and/or your eligible dependents. You may have to provide evidence of insurability before certain levels of life insurance become effective. Your choices for voluntary life and accident insurance include:

- Employee Supplemental Term Life Insurance: You can purchase supplemental term life insurance up to 10 times your “benefits pay” (in $10,000 increments) to a maximum of $3 million.
- Dependent Supplemental Term Life Insurance: You can also purchase supplemental term life insurance for your eligible dependents. You can buy coverage for your spouse/domestic partner from $10,000 to $300,000 (in $10,000 increments). In addition, you can buy $5,000 or $10,000 in coverage for each dependent child. Please Note: To purchase supplemental term life insurance for your dependent child(ren), you must elect coverage for you and/or your spouse/domestic partner.
- Employee Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD&D) Insurance: You can purchase AD&D insurance for financial protection in case of accidental death or certain accidental injuries. Coverage is available up to 10 times your “benefits pay” (in $10,000 increments) to a maximum of $3 million. Please Note: Reduced coverage amounts apply to employees age 75 and older.
- Dependent Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD&D) Insurance: You can purchase AD&D insurance for your eligible dependents. Coverage is available for your spouse/domestic partner to a maximum of $600,000 (in $10,000 increments). Please Note: Reduced coverage amounts apply to dependents age 75 and older. In addition, you can buy coverage for a child from $10,000 to $100,000 (in $10,000 increments). To purchase AD&D insurance for your dependent child(ren), you must elect either employee coverage and/or spouse/domestic partner coverage.

If you leave JPMorgan Chase, generally employee and dependent supplemental term life and AD&D insurance coverage is portable—meaning you can continue coverage through a direct billing arrangement with the insurance carrier at a higher rate.

Important Details About Participation in Life and Accident Insurance Plans

- Evidence of Insurability (EOI): If you enroll in employee supplemental term life insurance when you are newly hired, you are allowed to enroll for an amount up to the lesser of three times benefits pay or up to $500,000. You can initially enroll a spouse/domestic partner for an amount up to $50,000 without having to submit EOI. Elected amounts above these guaranteed issue amounts will be subject to EOI. If you do not enroll as a new hire or if you subsequently increase coverage at a later date, all new coverage will be subject to EOI requirements at the time you make the new election.
- Non-Smoker and Smoker Rates for Coverage: You pay for supplemental term life insurance and AD&D insurance on an after-tax basis. In addition, as explained on page 10, if you and/or your covered adult dependent individually enroll as a non-smoker or complete an approved smoking cessation course, you will pay lower, non-smoker rates for any supplemental term life insurance you elect. For more information on non-smoker and smoker rates under the Supplemental Term Life Insurance Plan, please see page 10.
- Actively-at-Work: You must be actively-at-work on the date your new or newly approved coverage takes effect.

Long-Term Care Insurance Plan

The Long-Term Care Insurance Plan helps pay for eligible expenses related to care you need when you can't perform certain basic activities of daily living (such as bathing, dressing, and eating), or if you're cognitively impaired. Care can be provided in your home, a nursing home, or an adult day care facility. Plan highlights include:

- Broad Coverage Eligibility: You can purchase long-term care coverage for you, your spouse/domestic partner, your parents and grandparents, and your spouse's/domestic partner's parents and grandparents.
- Comprehensive Options: You can choose from five daily maximum benefit amounts: $100, $150, $200, $250, or $300 per day.
- Nonforfeiture Protection: The plan offers an optional feature called nonforfeiture protection, which may allow you to continue to be insured for a reduced level of benefits if you stop payments after three or more years. When you first enroll for long-term care coverage you are allowed to choose (or waive) nonforfeiture protection.

The plan will pay benefits for covered charges incurred after a 60-day qualification period. The lifetime maximum benefit is an amount equal to five times the daily benefit amount. You pay for coverage on an after-tax basis. If you enroll for coverage after 90 days following your eligibility date or you drop coverage and later re-enroll, you may have to provide evidence of insurability.

Important Details About Participation in the Long-Term Care Insurance Plan

- Evidence of Insurability (EOI): If you enroll for coverage as a newly hired employee within 90 days of your eligibility date, no evidence of insurability is required for you. If you do not enroll as a new hire or if you increase coverage at a later date, any new coverage will be subject to EOI requirements at the time you make the new election. Coverage for anyone other than you is always subject to EOI requirements.
- Disabled Individuals: If you are an eligible employee who enrolls without EOI and you are not actively at work on the date coverage otherwise would become effective, your coverage will not become effective until the first day of the month that coincides with or next follows the day you return to active work.

Group Personal Excess Liability Insurance

The JPMorgan Chase Group Personal Excess Liability Insurance Plan provides additional liability protection for up to $10 million in coverage for damages and costs you or a covered family member have to pay beyond the limits of liability provided by your primary auto, homeowners, renters, recreational vehicle, motorcycle, and watercraft insurance policies. Plan highlights include:

- Coverage Categories: If you elect to enroll, the plan automatically covers you, your spouse/domestic partner, and all eligible dependent children.
- Coverage options and costs: You pay for coverage with after-tax dollars. Your cost depends on your pay schedule frequency and the coverage level you choose. There is a flat rate for coverage under this plan—your cost is the same regardless of how many dependents you cover. You can choose from coverage of:
 - $2 million
 - $5 million
 - $10 million

Important Details About Participation in Group Personal Excess Liability Insurance

- When You Can Enroll: You may only enroll in this benefit as a new employee or during annual benefits enrollment. You may not enroll due to a qualified status change.
- Required Primary Underlying Liability Insurance Policies: There are certain minimum limits you must carry on your combined primary underlying liability insurance policies in order to meet the eligibility requirements for this benefit. Please see the “Group Excess Personal Liability Insurance Plan Policy” flyer on HR & Personal > Pay & Benefits > Library for more information.
- How it Works: Coverage under this type of policy is always in excess of any other underlying insurance and is also known as an “umbrella policy.” For example, in the case of a car accident, your primary auto insurance policy would provide the first level of coverage and the JPMorgan Chase Group Personal Excess Liability Plan would be available once primary limits are exhausted.

Group Legal Services Plan

The JPMorgan Chase Group Legal Services Plan offers you and your family access to an affordable network of attorneys. The plan provides coverage for attorney fees for routine legal services related to personal and family legal issues, such as: wills and estate planning, real estate matters, family law, juvenile matters, name changes, consumer protection, property protection, traffic matters, and issues of incompetence, insanity, and infirmity defense. Most services are covered at 100% when you use network attorneys. A reimbursement schedule applies to fees charged by out-of-network attorneys.

If you elect to enroll, the plan automatically covers you, your spouse/domestic partner, and all eligible dependent children. You pay for coverage on an after-tax basis. Your cost is the same regardless of how many dependents you cover under the plan.

Important Details About Participation in the Group Legal Services Plan

- Pre-existing Legal Matters: Any legal matter for which an attorney-client relationship existed prior to you becoming eligible for services under the JPMorgan Chase Group Legal Services Plan will be excluded and no benefits will apply.
- Network Attorneys: The JPMorgan Chase Group Legal Services Plan offers access to a network of U.S. attorneys who provide a wide range of legal services. In-network services are available only in the continental United States, U.S. Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, and Hawaii, and attorneys will provide services only for U.S.-related issues.

The Wealth Accumulation Plans

Building a financially secure future is a partnership between you and JPMorgan Chase. Through the Wealth Accumulation Plans described on the following pages, the company provides a variety of options to help you meet your short-term and long-term financial goals.

Retirement Plan

Fully paid for by JPMorgan Chase, the Retirement Plan provides you with a foundation for your retirement income. Your participation in the plan is automatic after you complete one year of “total service.” (Please see page 23 for a definition of “total service.”) Your JPMorgan Chase Retirement Plan benefit is expressed as a cash balance benefit that grows in a notional bookkeeping account over time through pay credits and interest credits, as described below.

- Pay Credits. Each month your account will be credited with a percentage of your “benefits pay,” up to certain legal limits. (For 2009, the annual legal limit is $245,000.) The pay credit percentage ranges from 3% to 9% of “benefits pay” depending on your completed years of “pay credit service” as shown in the chart at right. (Please see page 23 for applicable definitions.)
- Interest Credits. Your Retirement Plan account balance also grows by receiving interest credits each month. The rate of the interest credit will be based on a one-year Treasury Bill rate plus 1%—with a minimum interest credit rate of 4.5%. The annual interest credit rate for 2009 is 4.50%.
- Vesting. You become 100% vested in (meaning you have the non-forfeitable right to) the value of your Retirement Plan benefit after completing three years of “total service.”

Completed Years of “Pay Credit Service”	Pay Credit Percentage
1 – 4	3%
5 – 9	4%
10 – 14	5%
15 – 19	6%
20 – 24	7.5%
25 or more	9%

401(k) Savings Plan

The 401(k) Savings Plan is an important component of JPMorgan Chase’s wealth accumulation benefits since it can help you save for retirement. Highlights of the plan include:

- Before-Tax Contributions. Contributions you can make before federal income taxes and, in most cases, before state and local income taxes are withheld. Before-tax contributions lower your current taxable income during the year the contributions are made.
- Roth 401(k) Contributions. Contributions you can make on an after-tax basis, which means federal, state, and local income taxes have already been withheld. Roth 401(k) contributions do not lower your current taxable income during the year contributions are made. However, any associated investment earnings can later be withdrawn tax-free, assuming certain criteria are met.
- Limits on Before-tax and Roth Contributions. You can contribute a combined amount of up to 50% of “benefits pay” each pay period for which benefits deductions are taken on a before-tax and/or Roth 401(k) basis up to the legal limit. For 2009, the legal limit on employee contributions to the plan is $16,500, and the legal limit on the amount of “benefits pay” that can be considered is $245,000.
- Catch-up Contributions. In addition to your regular before-tax and Roth 401(k) contributions, if you are at least age 50 or will reach age 50 at any time during the year, you may elect to make “catch-up” contributions up to the legal limit, provided that you contribute 50% of “benefits pay” for each pay period for which benefits deductions are taken or reach the annual legal limit on before-tax and Roth 401(k) contributions. For 2009, the legal limit on catch-up contributions is $5,500.
- Matching Contributions for 2009. JPMorgan Chase will calculate and credit matching contributions to eligible 401(k) participant accounts on an annual basis following the end of the calendar year (you generally must be employed on December 31 of that year).
 - For employees whose “total annual cash compensation” is less than $50,000, JPMorgan Chase matches your employee contributions dollar for dollar up to the first 5% of benefits pay (generally base salary) contributed to the plan.
 - For employees who earn “total annual cash compensation” of $50,000 or more (but less than $250,000), the firm will decide at the end of the year what, if any, employer contribution to make based on the firm’s performance.
 - Employees earning “total annual cash compensation” of $250,000 or more are not eligible to receive matching contributions. “Total annual cash compensation” is determined as of each August 1 and applies for the next succeeding calendar year. (Please see page 23 for applicable definitions.)

You will have full investment discretion over how your matching contributions are invested in the plan. However, matching contributions will be invested in the plan’s JPMorgan Chase Common Stock Fund unless you elect otherwise.

- Vesting. You are always 100% vested in (meaning you have a non-forfeitable right to) the value of your employee contributions (adjusted for investment experience). If you were hired before May 1, 2009, you are 100% vested in the value of any associated JPMorgan Chase matching contributions, if eligible, adjusted for investment experience. If you were hired after May 1, 2009, you will become 100% vested in any JPMorgan Chase matching contributions after you have completed three years of total service.

Continued

- Investment Funds. You can choose from among 25 investment options—including the JPMorgan Chase Common Stock Fund—offering different objectives so you can invest according to your financial goals and risk tolerance.
- Loans and Withdrawals. You can borrow and, under certain circumstances, make withdrawals from your account.
- JPMorgan Chase Common Stock Fund Dividend Election. You can elect to have dividend income reinvested in the JPMorgan Chase Common Stock Fund or have it distributed to you in cash. If you don't make an election, your dividend income will be automatically reinvested on your behalf.
- Daily Valuations and Transactions. Your account is valued on a daily basis, and you can conduct most transactions, including transfers/reallocations, on a daily basis.

Employee Stock Purchase Plan

The Employee Stock Purchase Plan provides you with an opportunity to share in the growth and success of the company as an owner of JPMorgan Chase common stock. Employees are only eligible to enroll in the plan during each annual benefits enrollment period that occurs in October—mid-year enrollment is not available. Please Note: Employees whose “total annual cash compensation” is $250,000 or more are not eligible to participate in the plan. (For the definition of “total annual cash compensation,” please see page 23.) Here's a summary of plan features:

- 5% Discount and No Broker Fees. You can purchase JPMorgan Chase common stock each quarter at a 5% discount. Contributions are deducted from your pay on an after-tax basis and invested each quarter. Taxes on the 5% discount are deferred until you sell or transfer the shares, and you don't pay brokerage commissions or fees.
- Annual Contribution Limits. You can contribute from a minimum of $240 per year up to 20% of your “benefits pay,” subject to a legal maximum of $25,000.
- Automatic Dividend Reinvestment. The number of shares you own will grow because dividends on previously purchased shares will be automatically reinvested in JPMorgan Chase common stock—also purchased at a 5% discount

Important Definitions

Throughout this brochure, there are references to terms such as “benefits pay,” “pay credit service,” “total annual cash compensation,” and “total service.” These terms are used to determine eligibility for benefits, benefits contributions, and/or coverage levels under certain benefits plans. The definitions below describe these terms.

Definitions

Benefits Pay:

Generally your annual base salary plus applicable job differential pay (e.g., shift pay). It does not include any annual bonuses, overtime, special recognition, or other incentive awards you might receive. In certain situations, your benefits pay may include other cash earnings (e.g., commissions, draws, and overrides) paid under certain non-annual incentive plans that provide compensation in lieu of base salary. You will be notified if this applies to you. For most benefits plans, your benefits pay is updated as changes occur throughout the year.

Pay Credit Service:

The period of service with JPMorgan Chase that may include service with predecessor heritage organizations.

Service with a company at the time of its acquisition (as opposed to a merger) may or may not count toward pay credit service, depending on the terms of the purchase agreement and the plan. For a full definition of Pay Credit Service, please see the Retirement Plan section of Your Guide to Benefits at JPMorgan Chase, available on Company Home > Pay & Benefits > Library.

Total Annual Cash Compensation:

Your rate of base salary plus applicable job differential pay (e.g., shift pay) as of each August 1, plus any cash earnings from any incentive plans (e.g., annual bonus, commission, draws, overrides, and special recognition payments or incentives), that are paid to or deferred by you for the previous 12-month period ending each July 31. Overtime is not included. For purposes of determining your eligibility to receive company matching contributions under the 401(k) Savings Plan, the Medical Plan contribution pay tier level that applies to you, and eligibility to participate in the Employee Stock Purchase Plan, your total annual cash compensation is recalculated as of each August 1 to take effect the following January 1 and will remain unchanged throughout the year. For most employees hired on or after August 1, total annual cash compensation will be equal to base salary plus job differentials.

Total Service:

Generally the period beginning on your first business day actively at work as an employee of JPMorgan Chase or an affiliate and ending when your employment ends. This generally includes all periods of employment with JPMorgan Chase or any of the merged companies that have become part of JPMorgan Chase.

For more information, please contact your Medical Plan option administrator.
- HIPAA Privacy Rights and Protected Health Information. Federal legislation under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) legally requires employers to periodically communicate how certain protected health information under employee and retiree health care plans may be used and disclosed, as well as how plan participants can get access to their protected health information.

Accordingly, JPMorgan Chase will distribute once every three years a Privacy Notice of Protected Health Information Under the JPMorgan Chase Health Care Plans to you that describes in detail how your personal health information may be used and your rights with regard to this information.
