As part of Bear Stearns' continuing effort to provide quality service, we have prepared this 2002 tax guide to answer frequently asked tax reporting questions regarding the enclosed 2002 Consolidated Form 1099-INT-DIV-B-OID, detailed income statement and separate Form 1099-MISC, if applicable.

In accordance with Internal Revenue Service (IRS) regulations, the Consolidated Form 1099 was prepared with detailed instructions on the back of each page, showing all tax information required to be sent to both you and the IRS. Information reported in one category is not duplicated in another. Bear Stearns® mails a Consolidated Form 1099 to the last known address for each account held in the client's name. Only one copy of each form is produced. For additional copies, send us a written request. You also may be able to download them from www.bearstearns.com. RETAIN YOUR CONSOLIDATED FORM 1099, FORM 1099-MISC AND THE DETAILED INCOME STATEMENT FOR YOUR TAX RECORDS.

Please review all information on your 1099 forms and detailed income statement. While we verify the information reported, reclassification of income by an issuer or its paying agent may necessitate a corrected Consolidated Form 1099. If you have any questions relating to the information reported, or believe there is an error, immediately contact your account executive (AE). In addition, we suggest that you consult with a qualified tax advisor to discuss your tax reporting questions.

It is important that you understand all possible implications of the current tax laws. The penalties for incorrect reporting may greatly outweigh the cost of seeking professional advice.

THIS TAX GUIDE IS FOR INFORMATIONAL PURPOSES ONLY AND SHOULD NOT BE CONSTRUED AS TAX ADVICE.

Explanation of Detailed Income Statement

The detailed income statement (not shown) is a condensed summary of your 2002 Consolidated Form 1099 reportable and nonreportable investment activity. The statement includes aggregate totals for the various types of income, e.g., dividends, capital-gain distributions, substitute payments and interest. Also detailed are purchases and all option transactions, including those that will settle after December 31, 2002, and the original issue discount (OID) for each applicable debt obligation held.

Interest Details

- Bonds listed alphabetically with an aggregate interest total
- Classified as nongovernment interest and U.S. Government interest
- A separate summary total of nongovernment interest and U.S. Government interest
- A summary total of credit interest
- A summary total of margin interest (will have a minus [-] after the amount)
- Short accrued interest

Nonreportable Income

- Municipal bonds
- Short accrued interest—accrued interest paid on the purchase of a bond which is not deducted from the total interest reported
- Tax-exempted dividends
- A separate total for interest subject to alternative minimum tax (AMT)
- A separate total for other nonreportable income

Dividends

- Securities listed alphabetically
- An aggregate total per security for dividends, long-term capital gains, 5-year gains, unrecap. section 1250 gains, return of capital, liquidations, and, if applicable, TEFRA or foreign tax withheld (which will have a minus [-] after the total)
- Master limited partnerships (MLPs)
- ADR fees—a nondeductible fee charged on dividend payments of foreign securities
- Distribution totals

Investment Activity Details

- All 2002 purchases, principal accretions and reinvestments
- Listed in CUSIP, date order
- All purchases will include the date, security description, quantity, price, CUSIP number, amount, type of transaction, and, if applicable, a separate line for TEFRA tax withheld
- Other distributions, including stock spin-offs and stock splits
- Separate section for option trades—includes purchases, sales and expirations (broker-dealers are not required to report option trades to the IRS; therefore, they are not included on Form 1099-B)

Sale proceeds are only provided on the 2002 Consolidated Form 1099-B.

Original Issue Discount

- Securities listed separately as U.S. Treasury obligations and other than U.S. Treasury obligations
- Detailed description of instrument, days held, quantity, OID rate, and type (e.g., daily), and total OID amount for the security
- Separate totals for all U.S. Treasury obligations and other than U.S. Treasury obligations

Miscellaneous Income

- Securities listed alphabetically
- Substitute payments
- Royalty income (K-1 was not issued)
- Distribution totals

1-10 Administrative Information

- 1 Bear Stearns is the payer that clears and reports your transactions both to you and the IRS. The firm's name, address and telephone number are provided for questions regarding this Consolidated Form 1099.
- 2 Introducing firm that handles your transactions, if applicable, and its telephone number. This firm clears its transactions on a fully disclosed basis through Bear, Stearns Securities Corp., making Bear, Stearns Securities Corp. the payer and tax reporting agent.
- 3 Your name and address on file as of December 31, 2002.
- 4 The original and/or corrected Consolidated Form 1099 will be dated.
- 5 2nd B Notice: This box will be checked on behalf of the IRS if Bear Stearns has notified you twice within the past three years that you have provided an incorrect tax identification number (TIN). To rectify this discrepancy, contact your local Social Security Administration (SSA) office and request a copy of Form SSA-7028, which will verify your Social Security number (SSN). To find the office nearest you, call Social Security's toll-free number, 800.772.1213. If you have an employer identification number (EIN), verify this number by requesting Letter 147C from the IRS. The toll-free number for the IRS is 800.829.1040. In accordance with IRS regulations, failure to correct an SSN or EIN will result in government-regulated backup withholding tax on all reportable transactions. For 2002 the withholding rate was 30%.
- 6 Tax identification number of Bear Stearns.
- 7 Account number at Bear Stearns.
- 8 Account executive's (AE) identification number. The name and number of your AE appear on your monthly statement. If you do not know the name of your AE, call Bear Stearns or the firm handling your transactions for assistance.
- 9 Your Social Security number or employer identification number. Please check to ensure that this number corresponds to the name in the recipient's name and address box. Advise your AE of any discrepancy.
- 10 Bear Stearns tax message.

11 Interest Income (1099-INT)

2002 FORM 1099-INT: INTEREST INCOME

(OMB NO. 1545-0112)

| (BOX) | (AMOUNT) |
|--------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1. Interest Income Not Included in Box 3 | .00 |
| 2. Early Withdrawal Penalty | .00 |
| 3. Interest on U.S. Savings Bonds & Treas. Obligations | .00 |
| 4. Federal Income Tax Withheld | .00 |
| 5. Investment Expenses | .00 |
| 6. Foreign Tax Paid | .00 |

- Line 1. Includes all taxable interest except on U.S. savings bonds and Treasury obligations.
- 2. Interest or principal forfeited because of early withdrawal.
 - 3. Includes the periodic interest earned on long-term (greater than one year) debt obligations, U.S. savings bonds, Treasury notes and Treasury bonds. Also includes short-term OID interest on U.S. Treasury bills. This interest is exempt from state and local income taxes. This amount is not included on line 1.
 - 4. Federal income tax (TEFRA) withheld and remitted to the IRS either by IRS mandate or at the client's request.
 - 5. Any amount shown is your share of investment expenses of a single-class REMIC. If you file Form 1040, you may deduct these expenses on the "Other expenses" line on Schedule A (Form 1040), subject to the 2% limit. This amount is included in box 1.
 - 6. All money withheld by foreign governments at the time of distribution. The gross amount of the distribution and the amount of the withholding is reflected on your monthly statement followed by the notation "foreign taxes paid." You can determine the foreign country to which taxes were paid by referring to the prospectus for the specific security or by contacting your AE. You may or may not be eligible to take the entire amount shown in box 6 as a foreign tax credit.

What interest income is reported?

The interest income reported on Form 1099-INT includes interest paid from corporate bonds, federal agency bonds, credit balances, commercial paper, and taxable municipal bonds. Municipal bond interest may be taxable unless the interest relates to a debt obligation issued by the state or locality in which you reside; in any case, it must be reported on Form 1040. Municipal bonds issued after August 8, 1986 may be subject to the alternative minimum tax in addition to full interest income disclosure. Interest received on tax-exempt obligations for 2002 is included on your December statement and the detailed income statement.

Bear Stearns tracks the purchase price of short-term (less than one year) instruments (on line 1) and U.S. Treasury bills (on line 3), and calculates the accurate short-term OID amount. However, if the securities are not redeemed from the account in which they were originally purchased, Bear Stearns defers to IRS Publication 1212. Therefore, the amount reported may need an adjustment when you prepare your tax return.

Why do the December statement and 1099-INT totals differ?

Interest relating to REMICs, FASITs and CDOs is not included on the original Form 1099; instead it will be recalculated on an accrual basis and reported on a corrected Form 1099 no later than March 17, 2003. Interest income from these obligations is reported on Form 1099-OID and/or Form 1099-INT, line 1. These obligations are not treated as U.S. Treasuries for federal and state income tax purposes because the underlying obligations (i.e., mortgages) are not issued by the U.S. Government.

Some MIDS, QUIDS, etc. are subordinated debt securities paying deferrable interest on a monthly or quarterly basis, and are actually OID instruments. An interest payment previously shown on a monthly statement is recalculated on an accrual basis and reported on Form 1099-OID issued prior to January 31, 2003. The interest payment will continue to accrue income for U.S. federal income tax purposes even though interest may not be paid on a current basis.

How is accrued interest reported?

Accrued interest earned on the sale of bonds (except tax-exempt municipal bonds) is reported as interest income on the settlement date. Accrued interest paid by you on bond purchases is included on the detailed income statement as "short accrued interest." It is not deducted by Bear Stearns from the reportable interest income total. Accordingly, the investor should subtract the accrued interest paid on the purchase of a bond from the amount reported on Form 1099-INT. Both of these amounts should be listed separately on Form 1040, Schedule B.

If you did not receive reportable interest income in 2002, "NO REPORTABLE 2002 FORM 1099-INT INCOME" will appear on your 1099.

12 Dividends & Distributions (1099-DIV)

| 2002 FORM 1099-DIV: DIVIDENDS & DISTRIBUTIONS | | (OMB NO. 1545-0110) |
|-----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|---------------------|
| (BOX) | | (AMOUNT) |
| 1. | Ordinary Dividends | .00 |
| 2a. | Total Capital-Gain Distributions | .00 |
| 2b. | 28% Rate Gain | .00 |
| 2c. | Qualified 5-Year Gain | .00 |
| 2d. | Unrecap. Section 1250 Gain | .00 |
| 2e. | Section 1202 Gain | .00 |
| 3. | Nontaxable Distributions | .00 |
| 4. | Federal Income Tax Withheld | .00 |
| 5. | Investment Expenses | .00 |
| 6. | Foreign Tax Paid | .00 |
| 8. | Cash Liquidation Distributions | .00 |
| 9. | Noncash Liquidation Distributions | .00 |

Line 1. Includes all taxable ordinary dividends and any short-term capital gains from mutual funds that are fully taxable.

2a. Total capital-gain distributions (long term) from a regulated investment company (RIC) or real estate investment trust (REIT). Box 2a includes amounts in boxes 2b, 2c, 2d, and 2e. If amounts appear in boxes 2b-2e, you will need to report them on Schedule D (Form 1040) Capital Gains and Losses. Use IRS instructions for directions on how to report this income.

2b. 28% capital-gain rate.

2c. Qualified 5-year gain that may be taxed at an 8% capital-gains rate.

2d. Unrecaptured section 1250 gain for certain qualified depreciable property. Use the Unrecaptured Section 1250 Gain Worksheet on Schedule D (Form 1040) for instructions.

2e. Section 1202 gain from certain small business stock may be subject to a 50% exclusion. See Schedule D (Form 1040) instructions.

3. The total amount of nontaxable distributions, if determinable. This includes return-of-capital payments that reduce your cost basis of the stock. This part of the distribution is nontaxable because it is a return of your cost (or other basis).

You must reduce your cost (or other basis) by this amount for calculating gain or loss when you sell your stock. But if you receive all your cost (or other basis), you must report future nontaxable distributions as capital gains, even though this form shows them as nontaxable. For more information, see Publication 550, Investment Income and Expenses.

4. Federal income tax withheld (TEFRA) and remitted to the IRS, either by IRS mandate or at the client's request.

5. The stockholder's pro rata share of certain amounts deductible by a nonpublicly offered RIC (generally a nonpublicly offered mutual fund) in computing its taxable income. If you file Form 1040, you may deduct these expenses on the "Other expenses" line on Schedule A (Form 1040), subject to the 2% limit. This amount is included in box 1.

6. All money withheld by foreign governments at the time of distribution. The gross amount of the distribution and the amount of the withholding is reflected on your monthly statement followed by the notation "foreign taxes paid." You can determine the foreign country to which taxes were paid by referring to the prospectus for the specific security or by contacting your AE. You may or may not be eligible to take the entire amount shown in box 6 as a foreign tax credit.

8. Cash amount distributed as a partial liquidating payment.

9. The fair market value of stock on the date of the distribution.

What dividend income is reported?

The 1099-DIV section reports all ordinary dividend income, return-of-capital payments, capital-gain distributions and partial liquidations, and includes short-term capital-gain distributions paid by tax-exempt mutual funds.

Why do the December statement and 1099-DIV totals differ?

There are three reasons why the total on your Form 1099-DIV may differ from your December statement totals. Any or all of the following may contribute to the discrepancy:

1. Certain dividend distributions made during the year may be considered nontaxable and are not recorded on the 1099, but are included by security on the detailed income statement.
2. Certain mutual funds and REITs may reclassify part or all of the distributions made. The reclassifications often occur after year end and are not recorded on the December statement.
3. Some mutual funds and REITs are considered constructive receipt payers. Their dividends can have a record date in 2002, but are payable in January 2003. Even though these dividends are not recorded on your December statement, they are reportable in 2002.

How are capital-gain distributions reported?

The 2002 Form 1099-DIV reports dividend distributions separately by capital-gain types. The detailed income statement that is enclosed with your 2002 Consolidated Form 1099 categorizes the type of income received for each security distribution. We suggest that you consult with your tax advisor or use the 2002 IRS Instructions for Schedule D (Form 1040), Capital Gains and Losses, and Publication 550, Investment Income and Expenses, to assist you in filing your Form 1040 return.

If you did not receive reportable dividend income in 2002, "NO REPORTABLE 2002 FORM 1099-DIV INCOME" will appear on your 1099.

Form 1099-B reports gross proceeds, net of commissions, on a trade or effective date basis. Each transaction listed on Form 1099-B includes the trade date, brief security description, CUSIP reference number, total amount of money received from the transaction, federal income tax (TEFRA) withheld, if applicable, and quantity. The column to the right of each transaction denotes the source of revenue as shown here:

|---------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Adjustment | Foreign transactions converted to U.S. dollars; corrections of previous 1099-B entries |
| Cancel | |
| Cash-in-Lieu | Greater than $20 |
| Merger | |
| No Code | Sale |
| PRN Paydown | Principal paydown |
| Redemption | |
| Short Sale | |
| Tender | For any stock or debt obligation |

Any sale with a 2002 trade date settling in January 2003 will be recorded on the 2002 Form 1099-B. Proceeds from Treasury bills sold before redemption are reported on Form 1099-B. Exchanges involving MIDS, QUIDS, mutual funds, etc. are reported at fair market value on the date the new security commences trading. Consult your tax advisor to analyze the federal, state and local tax consequences on these securities.

Accrued interest earned as part of the gross proceeds on a bond sale is reported separately on Form 1099-INT based on settlement date. Principal payment for mortgage- and asset-backed securities is reported based on effective date.

Proceeds required to be reported on your Capital-Gain and Loss Schedule may be different than the amount Bear Stearns reported to you. For example, opening short sales listed on Form 1099-B may not be taxable this year. Also, the original cost basis for obligations receiving principal paydowns and reported in 2002 must be adjusted. You are required to reconcile and explain any differences to the IRS on Form 1040, Schedule D.

The detailed income statement provides investment activity transactions not required to be reported on Form 1099-B by broker-dealers. It includes 2002 purchases, principal accretions and dividend reinvestments. Details for option purchases, sales and expired option transactions will be listed separately. The detailed statement will include the trade date, description, type of transaction, price, CUSIP number, amount, comment, and quantity. The information for proceeds on sales will be listed only on the Consolidated Form 1099-B.

When a security is purchased or sold, you receive a trade confirmation and a monthly statement, both reflecting the cost basis. If you need a copy of your statement for transaction-specific information, please contact your AE at Bear Stearns or the introducing firm shown on the Consolidated Form 1099.

If you did not receive reportable gross proceeds income in 2002, "NO REPORTABLE 2002 FORM 1099-B TRANSACTIONS" will appear on your 1099.

| | 1 Item - U.S. Treasury Obligations | 200.00 |

* This may not be the correct figure to report on your income tax return. See instructions on the back.

Line 1. OID calculation is based on the number of days the obligation is held (per IRS Publication 1212).

- Description and maturity date of an individual obligation.
- OID on a U.S. Treasury obligation. Report this amount on your federal income tax return; refer to IRS Publication 1212 for any adjustments to this amount. This OID is exempt from state and local income taxes and is not included in line 1.

The OID interest reported on Form 1099-OID is based on the assumption that the debt instrument was bought on the date it was originally offered to the public at the initial offering price. OID represents the difference between the stated redemption price at maturity and the original issue price of the bond, debenture, note or other debt instrument. OID is reported as it accrues whether or not any payments are received prior to maturity. OID is taxable over the life of the obligation and is calculated based upon the number of days during the year that you actually held the security.

If the debt instrument was not bought at original issue price, an adjustment to the amount reported on Form 1099-OID may be necessary when preparing your tax return. However, the amount reported on Form 1099-OID should be included on Schedule B of your federal income tax return and adjusted based on your cost. We recommend that you obtain a copy of IRS Publication 1212 and/or consult with your tax advisor.

Details on OID for REMIC and CDO securities are not included on the original Consolidated Form 1099; instead they will be reported on a corrected Consolidated Form 1099, mailed and post-marked no later than March 17, 2003.

If you did not receive reportable original issue discount income in 2002, "NO REPORTABLE 2002 FORM 1099-OID INCOME" will appear on your 1099.

In accordance with IRS regulations, if you earned miscellaneous income, you will receive a separate Form 1099-MISC. If not, your Consolidated Form 1099 will indicate, "NO REPORTABLE 2002 FORM 1099-MISC INCOME."

- Line 2. Income from royalty trust payments has been reported if you own a certificate or unit of beneficial interest in a royalty trust and you have not been issued a Schedule K-1.
- Other income includes prizes, awards (not for services rendered), punitive and other taxable damages paid.

- Federal income tax withheld, either by IRS mandate or at the client's request.
- Includes fees, commissions, prizes, and awards for services rendered.
- Payment in lieu of (a) tax-exempt interest to the extent that interest (including OID) has accrued while a short sale was open, and (b) a dividend, if the ex-dividend date is after the transfer of stock for use in a short sale, but before the closing of the short sale. 1099-MISC information is the only data required to be reported to the IRS for corporate accounts.

16 REMIC/CMO Information

REMIC/CMO TAX INFORMATION IS NOT INCLUDED ON THIS 1099 BUT WILL BE PROVIDED ON AN AMENDED 1099 BY MARCH 17, 2003.

If you received a Consolidated Form 1099 with this message, it means that you will receive a corrected Consolidated Form 1099 with a detailed statement and an additional statement for REMIC/CMO securities by March 17, 2003. Please refer to the INT and OID sections for detailed explanations.

Highlights of the REMIC/CMO Securities Statement

- Titled "2002 ADD'L OID INFORMATION."
- Separate statement for each security.
- Details for each security include description, CUSIP number, maturity date, amount reported on 1099-OID and/or 1099-INT, total position, days held, OID and/or INT rate, OID and/or INT amount accrued, market discount fraction and investment expenses, if applicable.

Corrected 1099s

You may receive an amended Consolidated Form 1099 for one or more of the following reasons:

- Your mutual funds and/or REITs reclassified all or part of their distributions after December 31, 2002. Since these reclassifications occurred after the original Consolidated Form 1099 was issued, a correction was necessary.
- The mutual funds and/or REITs you own declared a dividend in the last quarter of 2002 that was not payable until January 2003.

Not Reported on This 1099

- Income from municipal bond interest, dividend distributions on tax-exempt mutual funds, and gross proceeds on option contracts are provided on the detailed income statement, and are not included on the Consolidated Form 1099.
- Nonreportable items, including margin interest, short accrued interest, purchases and principal accretions (increase in your holding of a REMIC or CMO with a Z tranche), are listed under the applicable category of the detailed income statement.

Other Types of 1099s & Reportable Income

- If you had futures transactions, you will receive a separate Form 1099. Questions should be directed to Bear Stearns Futures Operations at 347.643.2542.
- If you had IRA and Keogh accounts, pension plans or profit sharing trusts with reportable transactions, you will receive Form 1099-R. Please contact Bear Stearns IRA/Keogh Operations at 347.643.9603 with any questions.
- If you had foreign currency transactions (e.g., yen or pounds), your gross proceeds, dividends and interest will be converted to U.S. dollars on the trade or effective date. These transactions will

Combinable and/or Exchangeable REMICs

- The additional OID statement CUSIP number could be different than the original purchased CUSIP number.
- Deals structured to allow investors to exchange the classes purchased for other securities backed by the same cash flow are referred to as a "combinable REMIC."
- Issuers of combinable REMICs include Fannie Mae (RCR), Freddie Mac (MACR) and Ginnie Mae (MX classes).
- The detailed income statement and the additional OID statement will reference the CUSIP number of the original position relating to the combinable REMIC.

- You owned REMICs or CDOs. Interest relating to REMICs and CDOs is reported on an accrual basis. In accordance with IRS regulations, this information will be sent to you by March 17, 2003.
- After verifying the reporting method and actual calculations from the issuing firm, Bear Stearns discovered a reporting error that made it necessary to issue a revised Consolidated Form 1099.
- A newly signed W-9 Form, changing the SSN or EIN reflected on the original 2002 Consolidated Form 1099, was received.

- If you received distributions directly from a corporation because securities are registered in your name, then the corporation—not Bear Stearns—must provide you and the IRS with the applicable Form 1099.
- Master limited partnership (MLP) and limited liability company (LLC) distributions will be reported directly by the MLP/LLC on Schedule K-1.

be reported on your applicable Form 1099.

- If your primary address is in the state of Florida or Kentucky, Bear Stearns is required to file an intangible tax report of security positions held as of December 2002. For California, Connecticut and New York residents, municipal bond interest must be reported by Bear Stearns. Your December 2002 statement will correspond to the positions reported, and the detailed income statement will provide the municipal bond interest. Puerto Rican residents will receive a 480.6A and/or 480.6B form by February 28, 2003.
