Note

If a capital payment of any description (loan services, capital injection, investment, etc.) or any type of payment that may result in a future repatriation is required, please contact your JP Morgan Chase & Co representative before execution of the transaction. Local regulations may require completion of additional documentation and not all payment types can necessarily be supported.

Setting up your payment

It is best practice to include the below standard information in payment instructions to avoid potential delays or returns:

Ordering Customer

Account number Full name (no initials) Full address Street address (avoid P.O. Box numbers) City State Code Postal Code Country code (2 characters) Beneficiary Customer Account number Include the International Bank Account Number (IBAN) or Clave Bancaria Estandarizada (CLABE), if applicable Full name (no initials) Full address Street address (avoid P.O. Box numbers) City State Code Postal Code Country code (2 characters) Beneficiary Bank Full bank name Address SWIFT BIC Some countries may also require additional information (i.e., telephone number, purpose of payment, routing codes, etc.).

Failing to provide all required information may result in payment delays or returns.

Cross-Border Payment Requirement

Intermediary banks are often used when a payment is made in a currency that is different from the local currency. When making a payment through an intermediary bank, their SWIFT BIC must be included.

Key Terms International Bank Account Number (IBAN)

The International Bank Account Number, IBAN, is an internationally agreed standard to identify an individual's account at a financial institution. IBANs should be included for all SEPA payments. SWIFT maintains an IBAN registry (https://www.swift.com/swift-resource/9606/download)that provides details on the IBAN structure. The structure consists of a two-letter ISO country code, followed by two check digits and up to 30 alphanumeric characters for the Basic Bank Account Number (BBAN).

Routing Codes

Some countries require the inclusion of national routing codes to facilitate routing within the country's payment systems. Examples of countries with routing codes are Australia and Canada.

SWIFT BIC

SWIFT BIC is a bank identifier code for members of the SWIFT network. Please note: If a branch BIC is not known, the full name and address should be used.

Residence Foreign Currency Deposit (RFCD) accounts may be opened in US dollar, euro, pound sterling, or Japanese yen, and may be maintained as long as the account holder desires. Payments may be made into the account with declaration to customs authorities on the FMJ form. A maximum of USD 5.000 may be credited into the account without declaration.

Additional Documentation: Additional supporting documentation such as Form C may be required from the beneficiary stating the reason for payment or providing evidence of the beneficiary's identity. The beneficiary must complete all required documentation requested by their local bank or the correspondent bank to receive credit into the account.

Declaration by their beneficiary on Form C shall not be required for inward remittances up to USD 20,000 equivalent (While Form C is waived for payments below USD 20,000 the onshore correspondent bank or beneficiary bank may sometimes request form C from the beneficiary to evidence the identity of the beneficiary and to confirm the purpose of the payment); BDT payments that are larger than USD 20,000 equivalent will still require the Form C to be submitted by the beneficiary at their bank.

CAD - Canadian Dollar

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g.

Canadian bank branch routing number, SWIFT BIC code and beneficiary bank address). Absence of this information may result in delays or returns.

Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.bankofcanada.ca.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Currency and Clearing Information: Canada has well-developed high-value and low-value electronic payment systems.

Account Restrictions: Residents and non-residents can hold both domestic and foreign currency accounts. Most Canadian banks offer accounts in USD.

Canada's "Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act" and related regulations impose an obligation on all Canadian financial institutions, including J.P. Morgan, to obtain certain information for wire payments transmitted in a SWIFT 103/103+ format and SWIFT MT101s that result in the SWIFT MT103 format. In order to comply with these regulatory requirements, J.P. Morgan will require complete order party/beneficiary information to be included in any wire payments that are sent or received through your accounts with us in Canada. Complete order party/beneficiary information includes: full account name, full account number, full beneficiary bank name, the SWIFT BIC code, and full physical address information. A full physical address must include: street number, street name, city or town, state or province where applicable, and country, preferably in the 2-character ISO format.

In circumstances where a street number is not assigned to a physical location, a description of the location, such as a building and street name, may be acceptable. A P.O. Box is not acceptable without a full physical address. State or province is also required for all U.S. and Canada addresses and for other countries, where applicable. Some Canadian banks also require the Canadian Clearing Code to avoid delays in processing.

The ideal size of the mandatory fields for ordering party/beneficiary full account name is 35 characters. For the mandatory ordering party/beneficiary address, full physical address components should fit into the rest of the 3 lines with 35 characters in each line. Where the beneficiary name exceeds one line, the full beneficiary name and full address should fit in 4 lines. The address information should not overflow into other fields to avoid delays or rejection.

Financial institutions may reject or delay your wires if the required information is not provided or address information does not include a full physical address in the mandatory fields.

Payment Formatting Rules for CAD

Ordering Customer (SWIFT MT103/MT101 F50): For MT103 wire payments debiting a non-FCB¹ client account, the JPMorgan wire engine will enhance the account name and address from account records. For all other MT103MT101 formatted wire transactions in and out of Canada, including those paid through an intermediary bank, include account number, full name (no initials), and full physical address of the ordering customer. Use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary.

Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 or MT101 resulting in a SWIFT MT103 F59): For all transactions in and out of Canada, including those paid through an intermediary bank, include account number, full name (no initials), full physical address, including two character ISO Country Code of the beneficiary customer. Use of initials may delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary or transaction will be rejected.

When paying CAD to a beneficiary who holds an account with Royal Bank of Canada or the Bank of Nova Scotia, the account number should be 12 digits.

Telephone number of the beneficiary may also be provided in SWIFT MT103 F70

Canada

Continued

Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): It is mandatory by JPMorgan that the bank's SWIFT BIC is provided, and, where applicable, the Canadian Clearing Code is provided for CAD payments and receipts. If the SWIFT BIC is not provided and/or there is an incorrect Clearing Code, the wire payments and receipts may fall into repair or be rejected.It is recommended by Payments Canada that the Canadian Clearing Code or routing code be used for payments denominated in CAD. The 9-digit routing number is made up of the Direct Payment Routing Number (4 digits) and the Branch Transit Number (5 digits). The structure is //CC followed by nine digits. Example: //CC123412345.

Where applicable, the beneficiary bank transit number identifies which internal branch account the main bank should direct the funds to.

SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxCAxx or xxxxCAxxxx.

Wire receipts for credit to a Canadian corporate account need to be received by JPMorgan Toronto in the swift MT103 format due to Canadian regulatory reporting obligations. If they are received in the MT202 format for credit to a corporate-owned account, the wire receipt in the MT202 format will be rejected and will have to be resent by the counterparty in the SWIFT MT103 format.

China

CNY - Chinese Yuan/Renminbi

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g.

SWIFT BIC, account number, beneficiary account name, and beneficiary bank address).

Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.pbc.gov.cn.

Country Requirements/Restrictions (On-Shore CNY)

Payment Restrictions: This is a restricted currency. Restricted currency payments must include all required information, or they will be canceled.

Beneficiary must have been activated in RCPMIS, the central bank reporting system, by its local bank before it can conduct any CNY cross-border transaction for the first time.

For corporations, payments can be for merchandise, service trade, other current account items (i.e., operating expenses) and approved capital activities.

Account Restrictions: Non-resident companies require approval from the People's Bank of China (PBOC) for the opening of CNY settlement account in China.

Additional Documentation: Supporting documents are not required for outgoing payments if the payment bank allows document simplification. Local regulatory reporting applies to all cross-border payments.

If requested, the beneficiary must provide the local bank with supporting documentation to validate the underlying transaction and receive credit into the account.

Country Requirements/Restrictions (Off-Shore CNY)

Currency & Clearing Information: The official ISO currency code for payments is CNY. It is used as the official code to denominate payments and accounts. CNH is the informal currency term used in the off-shore markets, and denotes the foreign exchange rate for the renminbi traded in the off-shore markets.

Hong Kong is by far the largest renminbi off-shore market due to its early participation in the renminbi international trade settlement scheme and the development of a domestic RMB clearing system (CHATS) where the Bank of China (Hong Kong) is the settlement institution.

Payment Restrictions: Since the liberalization of the currency, the renminbi can be used globally as a trade settlement currency in off-shore jurisdictions (outside mainland China).

China

Like the other off-shore markets in New York, Singapore, Tokyo, and London, no specific regulatory restrictions are imposed on payment initiation and FX in CNH. However, payments involving FX for CNY rate (the on-shore renminbi rate) are subject to restrictions.

Receipt of cross-border CNY remittance to personal accounts in China will be subject to beneficiary bank's capability of crossborder CNY payment processing.

Account Restrictions: Like the other off-shore markets in New York, Singapore, Tokyo, and London, there are no specific regulatory restrictions imposed on account opening.

Additional Documentation: Supporting documentation may be requested from the beneficiary to substantiate an FX trade.

Foreign Currency Payment into Mainland China Foreign Currency Current & Capital Accounts

Foreign currency accounts in China are purpose based. Current and capital accounts are the most common on-shore foreign currency accounts.

Current accounts are for normal pay/receive activities. Capital accounts are reserved for capital injection.

Capital account opening can be done based on one-off registration with local regulator. FX from renminbi to another foreign currency must be supported by documentation detailing the nature/purpose of the exchange.

Foreign currency receipts of any amount are subject to explanation on nature/purpose of payment.

Payment Formatting Rules for CNY

Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 F59): Include account number, full account name (no initials) and address of the beneficiary customer. Use of initials or beneficiary name mismatches may delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary. The provided beneficiary name should be exactly the same as the information registered in China's central bank information system (RCPMIS).

Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): Include the SWIFT BIC and full name and address of the beneficiary bank. Failing to provide beneficiary bank name and address could result in payment midrouting and delays.

If SWIFT BIC is not available or the ordering customer is sending local currency within China, include the full name and address of the beneficiary bank.

SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxCNxx or xxxxCNxxxxx.

Sender to Receiver Information (SWIFT MT103 F72): A purpose of payment code is mandatory and must be included on its own line in F72 for cross-border China-bound CNY payments. The purpose of payment code should be formatted as /ACC/PURPOSE/XXX or /ACC/XXX. Where XXX is the 3 letter code(Can be included in field 70).

Code	Description
/CAP/	Capital Account
/GDS/	Goods Trade
/SRV/	Service Trade
/CAC/	Current Account

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g. SWIFT BIC, account number, and beneficiary bank address). Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.hkma.gov.hk.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Currency & Clearing Information: Hong Kong's clearing system is separated into three categories: (1) RTGS payments (HKD, USD, EUR, and RMB); (2) Paper check clearing (CLG); and (3) Low-value electronic clearing (ECG).

Domestic clearing capabilities exist for USD, EUR, HKD, and RMB through the Clearing House Automated Transfer System (CHATS).

Payment Restrictions: HKD is a freely traded currency on-shore and offshore. Hong Kong has no currency and exchange controls, or any legal restrictions on capital inflow and outflow. No central bank reporting or approval requirements exist for domestic or cross-border transfers.

Account Restrictions: There is no difference between accounts held by residents and non-residents. Both are allowed to open HKD and foreign currency accounts in Hong Kong. Any corporation, financial institution, or individual can open accounts of any type and currency with any Hong Kong bank. However, the services offered depend on the bank's registered status under the three tier banking structure.

Payment Formatting Rules for HKD

INR - Indian Rupee

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g.

IFSC code, account number, and beneficiary bank address). Central Bank: India's exchange control policy is set by the government in conjunction with the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), which administers regulations. For additional information, please refer to www.rbi.org.in.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Currency & Clearing Information: Real Time Gross Settlement (RTGS) is the domestic high value clearing system with a threshold of INR 200,000. National Electronic Funds Transfer (NEFT) is the domestic low value clearing system, with no specified amount threshold for cap values.

For cross border INR payments into India with value INR 500,000,000 and above, both remitter & beneficiary Legal Entity Identifier (LEI) must be provided under Payment Details/Remittance information (F70). See Payment Formatting Rules For INR- Reason for Payment section for acceptable formats.

Payment instructions without LEI information and appropriate formatting will be rejected.

The LEI is a unique 20-character number used to identify parties involved in financial transactions.

For the latest listing of participating member banks, visit: www.rbi.org.in. Both the sending and the receiving bank must be RTGS or NEFT enabled.

Payments are settled on a first-in, first-out basis, either in real time (for RTGS) or within two hours (for NEFT) subjecting to working hours and bank holidays.

Payment Restrictions: Different payment types are subject to different regulations, yet the purchase of INR is permitted for trade and current account purposes.

Foreign currency can be paid from offshore for local conversion subject to regulations.

All transactions with non-residents are subject to foreign exchange controls, but the INR is fully convertible for trade and current account purposes.

Transfer of funds from foreign currency accounts to an INR account is permissible subject to certain regulatory prescriptions and allowances.

Transfer of funds from a local currency account to a foreign currency account is not permitted except in certain regulatory situations.

Continued

In general, there are no limits on the amount received, as long as the necessary supporting documents are provided. Sending payments to non-resident beneficiaries is permitted subject to foreign exchange management guidelines. Additional Documentation: Additional documentation may be required from the remitter and/or beneficiary.

Foreign Direct Investment:

All cross border incoming remittances with purpose code as Foreign Direct Investment (P0006, P0007 & P0008) will require additional Declaration & details of the remitter/Investor which may cause delay in processing.

Payment Formatting Rules for INR

Ordering Customer (SWIFT MT103 F50): Include account number, full name, and address of the ordering customer. Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 F59): Include account number, full name and address of the beneficiary customer. Account number can't contain dashes, spaces, or any other nonstandard characters.

Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): Include beneficiary bank branch's full name, address, including branch postal identification number (PIN), and branch telephone number (highly recommended).

Do not include SWIFT BIC. India does not use the SWIFT BIC network for domestic messaging. All payments must include the Indian Financial Services Code (IFSC) for electronic delivery of the payment.

Effective March 15, 2023 all cross border INR payments into India using the below three purpose codes, or quoting 'Donation' in its description, will not be processed until further notice. P1302 Personal gifts and donations

P1303 Donations to religious and charitable institutions in India P1304 Grants and donations to governments and charitable institutions established by the governments

India

Continued

Reason for Payment (SWIFT MT103 F72): Payment purpose code is mandatory. Payments received without a specific purpose code will be cancelled and returned to the remitter.

Please refer to the Reserve Bank of India's payment purpose codes, beginning with "P":

http://rbidocs.rbi.org.in/rdocs/notification/PDFs/ASAP840212FL.p df

Format: /ACC/PURPOSE/IN<Purpose code><Country code providing ultimate service>*

If in case of space limitation in field 72, the purpose code in the above format can be mentioned in field 70.

For specific purpose codes, the country code where the ultimate service was provided must be included. Please refer to the following link for impacted purpose codes.

https://www.jpmorgan.com/visit/inpop-feb2020

Include individual's account type in the payment details field. Please contact the beneficiary to determine the type of account held by the beneficiary. Account types include: Non-Resident Emigrant (NRE) - Format: /NRE/

Non-Resident Ordinary Account (NRO) - Format: /NRO/ Note: In order to avoid any delay in processing your transactions, kindly map the appropriate purpose code from the above link instead of using 'P1099' (Other services not included elsewhere), as we may seek further information on the transactions before applying the credits.

Additional Information

In addition to the purpose code, you may also provide purpose of remittance within the narrative of the payment, to avoid potential issues.

If the RTGS IFSC or NEFT IFSC is missing or invalid, or the sending or receiving banks are not RTGS-enabled, a draft will be issued and mailed if the full beneficiary bank branch name, building, street, location, and PIN (Postal Identification Number) are provided in the Beneficiary Bank Field.

India

Banks in India are required to obtain the LEI from all resident entities (non-individuals) and non-resident counterparts and overseas entities for all cross-border transactions into and out of India from your accounts with transaction values of INR 500 Million and above.

The LEI will also be validated before a cross-border transaction is processed. Once the LEI is made available to J.P. Morgan Chase Bank N.A., India (JPMCB India), it will be validated for all subsequent transactions, irrespective of the transaction size. For clients holding accounts with JPMCB India, provide your valid LEI to our JPMCB India's relationship team. This information shall be stored and applied to all future payments and receipts .Transactions with missing/invalid LEI shall be kept on hold. For clients holding accounts with JPMCB India are not required to include their LEI in the payment message

Kindly also provide the LEI of your counterparties (i.e. non-resident counterparts/overseas entities, resident entities located in Special Economic Zone etc.) for payments. Use the formatting guide when providing the LEI of counterparties for payments.

Ask remitters to include their LEI while sending payments into your account with JPMCB India as outlined in the formatting guide: INR Vostro transactions processed through JPMCB India, the onus of ensuring Compliance to RBI's LEI regulations for cross border transactions is that of the bank of the resident entity in India i.e. bank of the Indian beneficiary and not J.P. Morgan India. In case the end beneficiary in India banks with J.P. Morgan India, then the remitter is requested to include their LEI in the payment message as per the formatting guide .

Japan

JPY - Japanese Yen

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g. SWIFT BIC, account number, and beneficiary bank address). Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.boj.or.jp/en.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Currency & Clearing Information: In Japan, there are two cash clearing systems for Japanese Yen payments. One is Zengin and the other is FXYCS. Each clearing system has different rules and message format guidelines.

Zengin is a clearing system for domestic yen payments among Japanese residents.

FXYCS is used for international, cross-border yen payments for both Japanese residents and non-residents.

Maximum payment amount between residents through local clearing system, Zengin, is JPY 9,999,999,999. Amounts exceeding this limit need to be split into multiple transactions.

Payment Restrictions: JPY is a freely traded currency both onshore and offshore.

JPY payments must be entered in whole amounts with no decimal to avoid rejection.

Resident companies must report details of all non-trade related transfers in excess of JPY 30,000,000 or the FX equivalent. For outgoing Zengin payments, the debit account with JPMorgan Chase Tokyo must be a resident account. For incoming Zengin payments, the credit account with JPMorgan Chase Tokyo must be a resident account.

For outward payments from Japan, payers and payees are required to confirm their cross-border payments are not related to Japan sanctions against North Korea, Iran, Russia and the Republic of Belarus. Please input the code word "NNKNI" in your respective payment instructions to declare that your payment is not associated with the sanctions. Without this declaration, payments may be delayed or cancelled

Account Restrictions: JPY accounts and foreign currency accounts can be opened by resident and non-residents.

Additional Documentation: For over-the-counter money transfers over JPY 100.000. Japanese ID confirmation law requires banks to confirm the customer's name, address, and birthday with a government-issued ID. If the customer is an account holder, confirmation is not required as the same process is required to open an account. If problems are encountered, have the beneficiary's name, account number, and telephone number available.

Payment Formatting Rules for Cross-border Payments debiting accounts held with JPM Tokyo (including any domestic payments from resident to non-residents)

Ordering Customer (SWIFT MT103 F50): Include account number, full name (no initials), and full address (country, state/province, city, street) of the ordering customer. Use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 F59): Include account number, full name (no initials), and full address (country, state/province, city, street) of the beneficiary customer. Use of initials may delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary.

Purpose of Payment (SWIFT MT103 F70, 72, 77B): In light of the requirements under Article 17 of the Act, JPMCB Tokyo requests that you provide the Purpose of Payment for all cross-border payments, including any domestic payments from resident to nonresidents from your accounts with JPMCB Tokyo (each "crossborder payment", and collectively "cross-border payments"). If cross-border payments are related to import or intermediary trade, you must also provide the Country of Origin, Place of Shipment, and Name of Goods.

Please use the codes listed in the JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., Tokyo Branch Payment Purpose Code List or the International Balance of Payments Headings defined by the Bank of Japan in your payment instruction. Transactions without payment purpose will be delayed or rejected.

If the payment is related to importation of goods or intermediary trade, please provide additional information in the following manner:

/REG/MOF,[4-digit of Payment Purpose Code],[2-character ISO Country Code of Origin], [Place of Shipment], [Name of Goods] Example: /REG/MOF.0071.CN.GUANGZHOU.AUTO PARTS

Payment Formatting Rules for FXYCS (International/Cross-border Clearing System)

Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): Include SWIFT BIC with branch location. full name, and full address of the beneficiary bank. This information is required to avoid payment delays.

SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxJPxx or xxxxJPxxxxx.

Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 F59): Include account number, full name (no initials), full address (country, state/province, city, street), and telephone number of the beneficiary customer. Use of initials may delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary.

Bank to Bank Information (SWIFT MT103 F72): For outbound payments from a Tokyo branch account, enter "FXYCS" (International/Cross-Border Clearing System) on its own line in F72.

Payment Formatting Rules for Zengin (Domestic Clearing System) Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): Japanese banks have a unique 4-digit local bank code decided by JBA. Each bank also has a 3-digit branch code. Combined, the 7-digit bank/branch code identifies the specific beneficiary bank.

Bank Branch Code should always be preceded with "/ZN" followed by the 4-digit bank code and the 3-digit branch code. Example: /ZN0402001

Japan

Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 F59): In addition to the account number, there are various account types within Japan, including: Saving ("S"), DDA ("D"), Chochiku ("C"), and Others ("O"). The account type is mandatory for all Zengin payments and must precede the beneficiary account number in the beneficiary customer field. Example: S1234567.

The beneficiary's exact account name in local language is required. If the account name does not perfectly match with the beneficiary's account name recorded at the beneficiary bank, the payment may be delayed or rejected.

Additional Notes

Lifting fees are standard market practice in Japan. Lifting fees are calculated as a percentage of the transaction value (around 1/20% of the payment amount).

JPY is a zero-decimal currency.

Payments to Post Bank (JPPSJPJ1XXX) are not supported. Banks are also required to provide accurate customer identification data (i.e. customer name, address, account number or transaction reference number) when executing cross-border payments.

Russia

RUB - Russian Ruble, currently suspended

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g.

SWIFT BIC, account number, and beneficiary bank address). Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.cbr.ru.

Regulatory Requirements/Restrictions

Currency & Clearing Information: The Central Bank of Russia coordinates payments and settlements between 70+ regional centers. Payments are currently sent by batch multiple times daily. All batch processed payments in the same region are typically settled by the Central Bank of Russia on a same day basis. Payments to different regions may take up to three business days. All payments in Russian ruble exceeding RUB 100mm need to be routed via the real time gross settlement ("RTGS") clearing system called Banking Electronic Speed Payment System (BESP)

Payment Restrictions: There are no restrictions on the types of payments allowed.

The beneficiary may need to open a passport at the local beneficiary bank for a payment for goods and services or loan exceeding USD 5,000.

Account Restrictions: Residents and non-residents are permitted to open and maintain domestic and foreign currency accounts either locally or abroad. Residents must notify the tax authorities of any foreign-maintained accounts.

Additional Documentation: Cross-border payments are settled via correspondent bank accounts and often require supporting documentation. The Russian correspondent bank must receive all documentation before it releases the payment to the beneficiary bank.

Payment Formatting Rules for RUB

Payment instructions must include a wide array of country-specific information in addition to standard remittance information. Please be aware that your RUB payment may be cancelled if you fail to include this information in your payment instructions.

Ordering Customer (SWIFT MT103 Field 50): Include account number, full name (no initials) and address of the ordering customer. Use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary.

Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 Field 59): Include the beneficiary's 20-digit account number, full name, address, and individual tax payer number (INN).

Line 1:	Account Number (20 digits)
Line 2-3:	Remitter Name
Line 4:	City, Country
Line 5:	INN Code

If there is only one beneficiary bank (Russian bank) and beneficiary, include the beneficiary customer's 20-digit account number in this field. If an intermediary is used, the 20-digit account number of the beneficiary bank should be included in SWIFT MT103 F57.

First name, family name, and patronymic name must be included. Use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary. Companies must include full name as well as legal ownership (e.g. LLC, JSC).

INN is the taxpayer's identification code assigned by the Russian Tax authority. The length of this code varies based on the type of beneficiary. If the beneficiary is an individual, this field is optional and consists of 12 digits. If the beneficiary is a Russian legal entity, this field is mandatory and consists of 10 digits. If the beneficiary is a foreign legal entity, this field is mandatory and consists of 5 digits or 10 digits, depending on whether or not the foreign legal entity conducts business in Russia.

If the payment is a tax payment, then the reason code KPP should be included in SWIFT MT103 F59.

SWIFT MT103 F70 may be used for the telephone number.

If there is an intermediary bank in SWIFT MT103 F56A, make sure F57A includes the 20 digit account number of the beneficiary bank as well as the SWIFT BIC.

SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxRUxx or xxxxRUxxxxx.

Intermediary Bank (SWIFT MT103 Field 56): If an intermediary is being used, include the bank's SWIFT BIC in SWIFT MT103 F56A. If the intermediary does not have a SWIFT BIC or if the BIC is not available to you, include the intermediary bank's BIK, name and 20-digit account number.

Reason for Payment (SWIFT MT103 Field 70): Purpose of payment must be clearly identified.

The field must always start with VO and the numeric code of the transaction. The VO code is the operation code relating to the purpose of the payment. This should be followed by the key details/description of the payment (e.g. contract references). The VO Code should always be quoted as per the following format: (VOXXXXX). There should be no spaces, dashes, dots, colons or other characters between the «VO» and digits. The VO Code may be placed in any line of field 72 of MT202's or field 70 of MT103's. Include accurate and clear purpose of payment, date of invoice agreement, and NDS (VAT) amount, where applicable. If VAT is included, the amount is needed. If VAT is not to be paid, include "NO VAT."

Example: VO60070 FX trade dated 10/20/09 contract ref: AF12123. The latest list of VO codes can be provided upon request.

Taiwan

TWD - New Taiwan Dollar

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g. SWIFT BIC, account number, and beneficiary bank address). Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.cbc.gov.tw.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Payment Restrictions: Taiwan FX markets are regulated. TWD can only be converted in-country.

Non-resident entities must be approved by qualified foreign institutional investors (QFII) to access the onshore market without the special regulatory approval. Non-resident entities are not allowed to hold TWD.

USD (or other available foreign currencies) can be converted incountry for local delivery, but FX documentation and bank regulatory reporting is required.

For individual residents, restrictions exist for sales and purchase of foreign currency against TWD. Maximum cumulative sales or purchases per year is USD 10,000,000 equivalent in gross unless specifically authorized other direct capital investments where there is no limit.

For commercial and individual non-residents, limits are defined in the rules regarding foreign institutional investors or other legislation for foreign exchange against TWD movement in and out. For foreign exchange against TWD movements for non-securities investment purposes, TWD transactions are not allowed. For commercial residents, there are no exchange limits for sales or purchases of foreign currency against TWD relating to trade products (import/export proceeds) or labor. For funds transfers and direct capital investments, the maximum cumulative sale or purchase of foreign currency per year for legal entity is USD 100,000,000 equivalent (except for specifically authorized direct capital investments, where there is no limit). In addition to transaction level thresholds, there is a TWD FX maximum limit of USD 100 million (equivalent) per annum for corporations. Items exempt from this limit are payments with special approval from the government (e.g. capital injection etc). For FX conversion against TWD equal or exceeding USD20,000,000, banks in Taiwan need to provide prior notice to Central Bank and seek for verbal guidance from Central Bank to proceed for TWD FX payments. To comply with Central Bank's verbal guidance, onshore and offshore remitters should split TWD FX payment when such payment is equal or exceeding

Additional Documentation: For TWD FX inward remittance. offshore remitters are not required to provide reason for payment or purpose code. However, the beneficiary must complete remittance declaration forms and provide supporting documentation (if applicable) to explain the reason for payment. On average, for TWD FX inward remittance to JPM Taipei Branch clients, the documentation process may take 2-3 days to complete. For TWD FX inward remittance to non-JPM Taipei Branch clients, incoming payments should always be a fixed TWD amount so that the payment can align to any required supporting documentation. The documentation process may take 10-15 days to complete subject to processing time from beneficiary bank. No FX against TWD transactions can be executed until FX reporting information/documentation is in place. The beneficiary must fill out the required documentation with their local bank by value date to receive credit into the account. If documents are not filled out, the exact payment amount and value date cannot be guaranteed. For tax payments, supporting document (i.e. tax bill) from offshore remitter is an acceptable alternative document. FX conversion against TWD amounts exceeding USD 1,000,000 (equivalent) requires a transaction declaration form and additional supporting documents. For inward remittance to non-JPM Taipei Branch clients, in addition to transaction declaration form and additional supporting documents, Inward Remittance Form is also required from beneficiaries.

FX conversion against TWD amounts equal or exceeding TWD 500,000 and below USD 1,000,000 (equivalent) require a transaction declaration form. For inward remittance to non-JPM Taipei Branch clients, in addition to transaction declaration form, Inward Remittance Form is also required from beneficiaries FX conversion against TWD amounts below TWD 500,000 require beneficiary to advise on nature of transaction. No declaration form is required. For inward remittance to non-JPM Taipei Branch clients, Inward Remittance Form is required.

Payment Formatting Rules for TWD

Ordering Customer (SWIFT MT103 F50): Include account number, full name (no initials) and full address of the ordering customer, including country, city, road/street, building No. and door number (where applicable). Insufficient ordering customer information or use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary.

Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 F59): Include account number, full name (no initials), and address (street address, city, country). Insufficient ordering customer information or use of initials may delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary. No specific beneficiary account number requirements exist.

Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): Include local clearing code, SWIFT BIC with branch identifier, full name and address of the beneficiary bank.

For local TWD clearing, there is a specific seven-digit local clearing code required for routing payments to the beneficiary bank and should always be provided. (NNNBBBB, NNN = bank code, BBBB = branch code)

For example, seven-digit local clearing code of JPMorgan Taipei Branch is 0760018. This can be provided in the below format in F57A

CHASTWTX

SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxTWxx or xxxxTWxxxxx.

There are no specific bank clearing codes for cross-border non-TWD payments into Taiwan. SWIFT BIC is key to routing payments to the beneficiary bank and should always be provided.

Reason for Payment (SWIFT MT103 F70): Required for TWD FX or foreign-currency payments from Taiwan accounts. Payments from offshore remitters do not require reason for payment or purpose code as this will be collected from Beneficiary Bank who contacts the Beneficiary to provide . Provide a reason for the payment (rent, salary, medical expenses, office expenses, etc.).

This field is required for FX conversion against TWD amounts below TWD 500,000.

For foreign inward remittances without FX against TWD, the beneficiary must advise on the nature of the transaction via telephone or mail.

For TWD FX inward remittance, incoming payments should always be a fixed TWD amount so that the payment can align to any required supporting documentation.

Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): Include sort code (For London accounts only), SWIFT BIC, full name and address of the beneficiary bank.

Beneficiary bank branches are identified through a unique 6-digit sort code; this is required to ensure payment delivery. The sort code should always be preceded with "//SC" followed by the 6-digit bank code. Example: //SC123456.

SWIFT BIC, including branch identifier, where required, must be included in the payment instructions. If SWIFT BIC is not available, include the beneficiary bank full name and address in the payment instructions.

SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxGBxx or xxxxGBxxxxx.

Additional Information

Most transactions are processed same day.

United States

USD - United States Dollar

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g. SWIFT BIC, account number, and beneficiary bank address).

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Currency & Clearing Information: The Federal Reserve Bank and the Clearing House Interbank Payment System (CHIPS) facilitates domestic clearing.

The U.S. has high- and low-value payment systems.

The Federal Reserve bank assigns each member a unique ninedigit ABA number to operate in the national clearing system. The Clearing House assigns each member a unique participant code.

Account Restrictions: Know your customer (KYC) requirements by financial institutions have become more stringent for opening accounts. Non-residents can hold in-country accounts.

Payment Formatting Rules for USD

Ordering Customer (SWIFT MT103 F50): Include account number, full name (no initials) and address of the ordering customer. Use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary.

Beneficiary Customer (SWIFT MT103 F59): Include account number, full name, and address of the beneficiary customer. Use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary. As best practice, beneficiary full name and account number must be included.

Beneficiary Bank (SWIFT MT103 F57): Include ABA routing number or CHIPS participant code (if available), SWIFT BIC, full name and address of the beneficiary bank.

If available, provide the ABA routing number or CHIPS participant code for the beneficiary bank.

Include the SWIFT BIC to direct payments to the United States. The receiving bank will then enter the payment into the domestic Federal Reserve (FED) clearing system. SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxUSxx or xxxxUSxxxxx. As best practice include beneficiary bank name and address.

Additional Information

The Fed or CHIPS reference number is used to confirm the receipt of funds.

Most domestic urgent transactions are electronic and processed the same day.

Vietnam

VND - Vietnamese Dong

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g.

SWIFT BIC or local bank code, account number, and beneficiary bank address).

Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.sbv.gov.vn.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Payment Restrictions: FX Control Regulations, issued by the State Bank of Vietnam, are amended from time to time according to monetary control policies of the State.

VND is unable to be traded offshore due to its un-convertibility. Purchase of VND is not restricted, as such overseas remittance in foreign currencies can be converted easily for local payments. Purchase of foreign currency, for both domestic and overseas payments from Vietnam, is permitted subject to allowable purposes and required supporting documentations are submitted. Domestic payment in foreign currency is restricted: Refer to Circular 32/2013 and Circular 16/2015 for eligible payments. VND against USD rate is calculated based on USD/VND central exchange rate and trading band. The central exchange rate of VND against USD shall be fixed by reference to the weighted average exchange rate in the inter-bank foreign currency market, the exchange rate movements in the international market of currencies of some countries that have trading, borrowing, debt payment, significant investment relationships with Vietnam, macro-economic and monetary balances and goals of monetary policies.

USD is accepted for local payments, subject to certain requirements and supporting documents. USD payments into Vietnam for onward credit in VND will be converted by the remitting bank.

Payments cannot be made to Foreign Indirect Investment Accounts (FIIAs).

Additional Documentation: The beneficiary may be required to provide supporting documentation by the correspondent or beneficiary bank.

VND in-country settlement requires no specific documentation.

Foreign Currency Payment into Vietnam Current & Capital Accounts

Foreign currency receipts of any amount are subject to explanation on nature/purpose of payment.

Current accounts are used for underlying goods and services activities

Wholly and partially foreign enterprises are required to open a Capital account. Capital accounts are reserved for capital and loan related transactions. Refer to Circular 06/2019 - FX control for foreign direct investment in Vietnam Including Capital account, Circular 12/2014, 03/2016 and 05/2016 for foreign loan.

Tax codes are required when making payments to the local Vietnamese tax authorities (or equivalent). These tax codes relate to both the sender (Remitter) and the receiver (Beneficiary). The communication of a tax payment will usually occur between the tax authority and the remitter, and a unique tax code tax identifier number will be generated online for the remitter to use when initiating their payment. This code is needed by the local tax authorities in order to recognize that the payment relates to a specific beneficiary.

VND is a zero decimal currency; payments must be entered as whole.

Additional Information

Amounts with no decimals to avoid rejection.

Depending on the beneficiary bank, value date for local clearing payments is within one business day.

Payments cannot be made to Foreign Indirect Investment Accounts
